A Prize Fight Between 'Bus-Drivers.

TICKET COMMISSION TROUBLES

The Last Splurge of the Local Republicans—Other Interesting Events.

A very interesting fight for blood took place yesterday evening about 5 o'clock near where the Santa Fe track crosses Roy street. Two bus-drivers who are known by the names of Doughnuts and Boston Beans had been aching for some time to settle the question of supremacy and pursuant to agreement met at the above named place where a ring was staked off and a fight with bare knuckles commenced. The first round was devoted by both Doughnuts and Beans endeavoring to find the others weak joints, and it did not begin to become interesting until toward the close. Beans was just preparing to land a right hander somewhere on Doughnuts physiognomy when time was called.

The second round was much livelier. Doughnuts forced the fighting and drew first blood. Heavy blows were exchanged, and Beans retired to his corner in rather a rattled condition.

Doughnuts got the worst of the fight in the third round. Beans managed to land a left hander on Doughnuts eye, and the rest of the round was uninteresting.

Doughnuts, however, came up smiling for the fourth round, and displayed such activity that Beans was thought to have lost the fight.

The fifth round was a hot one. Beans got his blood up and went at it hammer and tongs, the result being that Doughnuts threw up the sponge.

A sorrier sight than the two bus drivers has seldom been seen. Both wore marks that time alone can efface. A steak was applied to Doughnut's eye, but it disappeared. There were ten witnesses to the fight. Young Riley was time-keeper and Dutch Jake was referee.

TICKET COMMISSIONS.

The Instructions Issued by the Dissenting Roads.

The ticket commission still agitates the agents a good deal in this city. As stated in the HERALD the Rock Island, Wabash and C. and A. roads decline to enter into the non-commission agreement, and will pay the customary $2.50 on every ticket sold over the Iowa lines as usual. The following are the instructions received by the agents of the Burlington and the C. and N. W., these, with the Milwaukee and St. Paul, being the roads that have made the new compact:

"You are imperatively instructed as follows, to take effect October 30, 1888:

First. You are not permitted to receive any ticket commissions, directly or indirectly, from any one.

Second. You are not permitted to pay any commission to any San Francisco representative of any railway, except to such ticket agents as are supplied with tickets of the issue of California terminal lines who are acting as the agents of such roads exclusively, and not at the same time acting as the accredited representative of any other railroads.

Third. The fact that the commission is desired or deemed necessary for the purpose of cutting rates or meeting competition, or for any other purpose whatever, will be no excuse for a deviation from the above rules.

THE LAST EFFORT.

A Torchlight Procession and a Speech by Hon. Wm. Williams.

The Republicans got the first layer of a streak of bad luck last night which will culminate in their downfall next Tuesday. The bad luck came in the shape of drizzling rain which began early in the evening and lasted through, with short intervals of cessation, until after their procession and meeting was over. The mischance may be turned, however, to good account for it will afford a reasonable apology for their failure to come up to expectations.

As the last grand final blow-out of the season, in which not only all the clubs of the city but those of neighboring towns as well, and the rabble generally were expected to take part, it was universally conceded that the affair would be of colossal proportions and entirely surpass anything that has been arranged thus far by either party. It was by no means as respectable an effort, however, as the Republicans themselves put forth shortly after the nominations were made by the Free Whisky Convention at Chicago, and was not to be compared with the second ratification procession of the Democracy on the occasion of the Hon. Stephen M. White's return. It took about fifteen minutes to pass First street, and when counted there it showed 1160 men in line. The count was made at this point by J. B. Clark and L. B. Noyes, a couple of railroad men, whose enumerations made independently were found to tally. At another place nearer the point where the procession disbanded a HERALD reporter counted 790 in the ranks.

It was like all processions in its noise and glare. Fireworks were discharged recklessly right and left into the crowds and against the windows of the buildings lining the streets. One genius who sat with the driver of the hack containing some of the candidates, and probably pretty well loaded with free whisky, insisted upon shooting two Roman candles at once, and usually managed to spot some unfortunate victim in the crowd.

The transparencies were not very numerous, and were for the most part devoted to the interests of various local candidates, a fact of broad suggestiveness as to the question of the origin of the sinews of war for the entertainment. The Pomona Club brought with them a hugh signboard bearing the legend, "Pomona is the home of Murchison." This failed to elicit much enthusiasm, the spectators evidently not considering the Murchison style of performance was anything to be proud of. The line was led by the West-End Republicans, mounted on horseback, and they formed one of the best appearing portions of the whole outfit.

The wigwam on the corner of Fort and Second was well filled almost before the procession started, and by the time it was over the crowd extended out in all directions almost into the street. The speech of the evening was to be by the Hon. William Williams. At about 8 o'clock he began to talk, but in the confusion it was some time before he could be heard at any distance. No sooner would he get himself well wound up in an entanglement of figures on the tariff or half way into some thrilling appeal not to sell out the country to England, than some back-country band would come up and join itself into the crowd to blast "Marching Through Georgia" into the ears of the entire audience. After this performance had been repeated half a dozen times a large part of the crowd grew weary and dispersed; the rest remained to listen to Uncle Billy's husky utterances.

The Hon. Mr. Williams talked for about an hour in his own characteristic style. He told how the Dairymen's Association met in Chicago and begged for the reduction of the tariff on salt and remarked that they must have been Democrats or they would not have done it. He was not in favor of reducing the tariff on tin because it would be even more of a relief to the Standard Oil Company than it was to the farmers of California. His remarks were devoted chiefly to the tariff and the British Lion. He indulged in a long appeal to the workingmen, who were conspicuous by their unanimous absence, and ended with a variety of prophesies which, after the 6th of November, will be like the tent that kept the rain off while he talked—"For sale cheap."

The following is a description of one of the events of the evening:

EDITORS HERALD—A very peculiar incident happened during the procession on Main street near Market. A man named Thomas O'Brien, residing at No. 18 Blume street, hurrahed for Harrison. One of the men carrying a torch thought O'Brien was a Democrat, and shoved his torch in O'Brien's face, burning his mustache and eyebrows. This was witnessed by William Kuhrts, of 47 Buena Vista street; William Fricke, of 17 East First street; C. A. Meyers, of 95 Turner street, and a boy belonging to Jacoby's clothing store. This was exceedingly polite treatment from a member in the "kid glove" procession. Yours,
E. R. W.

A BIG DEAL.

The S. P. Extending It Operations in the East.

The statement is made that the Southern Pacific Company, through one of its subordinates, has purchased the iron-working and shipbuilding plant of the Newburg (N. Y.) Iron Works. The purchase was made in the name of the Chesapeake Dry Dock and Construction Company, which operates a large dry dock and repairing establishment at Newport News, Virginia, the terminus of the Atlantic system of the Southern Pacific line. The plant of the works will be transferred to Newport News, where, the report has it, the Southern Pacific will locate a ship yard. There is some talk that C. P. Huntington intends to replace his line of transatlantic steamers and will depend on the new shipyard for their construction. The Pacific Improvement Company has also need of some new steamers which may be built there. The step is regarded as an important one, both for the company and the State of Virginia.

A Meeting Ready but no Speakers.

EDITORS HERALD—The Democrats of this place made all the preparations last night for holding a grand meeting. The County Central Committee had announced that the people here would be addressed by Col. J. J. Ayers and other speakers, and posters to that effect had been posted here for over a week. We were all ready to give the speakers a fine reception, but no speakers came. So we had the mortification of a great disappointment. Who is to blame for this?
S. H. T.

Sierra Madre, Nov. 3, 1888.

The gentleman named above was notified by letter last Monday that he had been selected to speak at Sierra Madre Friday night. He at once returned the notification to the Chairman of the County Committee as not accepted. There was ample time for the Committee to provide speakers for the Sierra Madre meeting. This is a case where a meeting was ready but no speakers. We know of another case in which the speakers were ready but no meeting.

POLITICAL LETTER BAG.

What the "Herald's" Correspondents Think.

THE TRUE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE

Tariff Reform Defended, and Republican Falsehoods and False Issues Laid Bare.

On the edge of the battle a lot of voters take a shy at the Republican false position, and at the Democratic truth in the following letters:

Some Nuts to Crack.

EDITORS HERALD—I have seen so much in the Republican papers recently about protection benefiting the laboring man that I cannot resist the temptation of asking a few questions through your worthy journal. I am a Republican as far as principles are concerned, but cannot see the justice of taking every article necessary to one's comfort to fill the coffers of a few. They say protection keeps up wages. Statistics prove that wages are higher in England than any other country in Europe, or Australia, according to the cost of living. Well then, why is it that in England wages are greater than in Italy France, Germany or Austria, and those countries are highly protected. How can we reconcile these truths with the theory that protection keeps up the wages. People then ask if the above be true why are people in this county better off, financially, than those in England. That question is easily answered. When America is as old as England, when the former is as thickly settled us the latter; when real estate transfers are as cumbersome and expensive here as there; when all the great tracts of land are owned by a few here, like there; and when we have a vast army and navy to house, clothe and feed, like England, it seems to me the laborers of this country would be as poor as those of England. This much is very evident. Those who preach protection the loudest are the ones who try to receive their labor the cheapest. For instances, one of the papers of our city every day, in a double-leaded editorial, cries out: "My dear, beloved downtrodden workingmen, unless you vote for protection you will be compelled to work for nothing next year, and England will reign supreme over your glorious land," and to-morrow if that same journal could employ men to work for less than the regular wages, without affecting their subscription list they would do so.

China is a highly protected country. She has built a colossal wall around her Empire to protect herself, and foreign ships cannot unload their cargoes at certain points unless at the mouth of a cannon, and what are wages there? Eight to fifteen cents a day.

Any money taken from the people as a tax for private uses is nothing less than a robbery according to law.

W. C. WOLFE.

THE TAMMANY ORATOR.

The Triumph of Democracy is the True Emancipation of Labor.

The Republican press have good cause of denouncement of the Tammany orator. He. conspicuously among their Democratic opponents, is gifted with the genius of attack, whose resulting success, in exposure of Republican fallacies, sophistries and political fraud, is only equaled by the gracefulness with which the work is done. Under the penetrating light of his logical analysis of the Republican theory of Government, the shams and hypocrisies of the war tariff school of political economy and of the assumed "protection" which war taxes afford to the American wage-worker, are laid bare and broadly open to the laughter and ridicule of the general public. Seen through the calcium radiance of the Grady presentation of the facts of the case, the Republican orators, as evolved and developed out of and by the present campaign, present an amusingly grotesque series of political profiles. They are detected and depicted in the very act of attempting to grossly deceive and mislead the people, to falsify the record, even where that record has been made by acknowledged Republican chiefs and leaders, and to stigmatize to-day as treasonable that which yesterday they swore was loyal and patriotic.

Mr. Grady illustrates in his speeches the force and persuasive power of truth. "Tell the truth" is the only legend which the Democratic party needs in this campaign to symbolize and emblazon its way to victory in November. But Grady "tells the truth," with the charm and rhythm of such inimitable drollery that the people "hold their sides" with laughter, while viewing his contrasting cartoons of Republicanism of 1882, 1884 and 1888, and of the desperate but vain attempt of the Republican party to appear to be that which it is not. In his attitude of defence of the manhood and intelligence of American citizens of Irish extraction grossly and gratuitously insulted, as they and the whole Irish race repeatedly are being insulted by the paltry tricks and traps set by Republicans to catch the supposed political sensibilities of Irish-Americans towards Great Britain, Mr. Grady administered to the whole Republican party a merited rebuke. Every American citizen claiming affinity with the Irish race should thank Mr. Grady for placing the dignity of American citizenship, no matter whence its extraction, on the just and high ground of equal devotion to American institutions and of equal hostility to all men and measures inimical to American institutions—a position clearly defined by the history of Irish-American citizens since the foundations of our country were laid. Stupid indeed to the teachings of that history must be the party which hopes by such silly, transparent and contemptible frauds as that of the Pomona Murchison letter to the British Minister at Washington to influence, for this or that candidate, the Irish-American vote. Such a detestable political ruse is not only dishonorable to the party that resorts to it, but is a mortal insult to the class of citizens it is deliberately intended to fool. And this truth, if not already apparent to the Republican party, will assert itself with tremendous emphasis on Tuesday next at the ballot box. To the honest worker in every industrial avocation Mr. Grady illustrated by the truths of history by plain, simple statistics and Legislature enactments facts, that only real true and solid protection which the American toiler ever had, or which he now enjoys, came to him by and through the Democratic party. He showed how strong the iron hand of bounty-favored-capital was still upon the throat of labor, that hand depriving its main strength from the legislation of the Republican party, and held forth and clearly exposed the well-grounded doctrine that in the permanent triumph of the Democratic party was to be found the poor man's safety, the abolition of the slavery instituted by highly protected millionaire manufacturers, the sweeping away of the oppression of trusts and combines, and the final accomplishment of the true emancipation of American labor.

No wonder the Republican press abuse the Tammany orator. Responsive to the blasts of his bugle horn the sons of the people are marshaling for the overthrow of that modern feudalism born of Republican usurpation of true American doctrine—the combine and the trust and the lordly high tariff-protected millionaire manufacturer—the sons of the people are marshaling and marching toward the ballot-box to elect Cleveland and Thurman and to secure the true and lasting emancipation of American labor.

The Murchison Fraud.

EDITORS HERALD—There are many comments of the press and otherwise upon the law and dastardly trick of the writer of the "Murchison" letter, and but few of them characterize the "cur" with the scorn and contempt he merits.

In all the history of tricks to make political capital, this is the last and dirtiest. The dog not so much obeys the whistle of his master as this fellow has run on the scent of his game. He runs amuck like the South Sea islander upon his own weapon, for the sake of dirty notoriety and to subserde his masters, who, in the end, will kick him for his dirty work. And the great "statesman," Mr. Blaine, receives the letter of reply of the British Ambassador and holds it up to a crowd upon a public occasion. And for what purpose does this distinguished candidate for President produce this reply? For the purpose of degrading a representative of the English Government to the United States, and for the further purpose of making political capital at the last hour while the Republican party is in extremis.

This "great statesman" should have seen at once, that the open notorious fraud committed by the contemptible vampire, for the object of making political capital, will ultimately "return to plague the inventors."

When the American people have had time to reflect upon this thing in all its fraudulent bearings, let the election go which way it may, then the reaction will come as surely as the morrow, and the dastardly coup which may result in bringing Democratic and Republican institutions to be a stench in the nostrils of the world, will end in a Republican "boomerang."

PUBLIC WORKS.

Recommendations to be Acted Upon To-morrow.

The Board of Public Works met yesterday morning in the Council chamber and the following recommendations were passed to be referred to the Council on Monday:

That the petition of property-owners on Collado street asking to have their street graded and curbed from Diamond street to Western avenue be granted and the City Attorney be instructed to draw up a resolutions of intention.

That a communication from St. Vincent College representing that at the corner of Washington street and Grand avenue an immense pool of water collects when it rains which is injurious to the health of the neighborhood be referred to the City Surveyor.

That the protest of property owners on Bellevue avenue, against curbing and laying cement walks, be disregarded as the public convenience demands it.

That the petition from Geo. W. Frasher et al., asking that an incline be provided for public use leading into the river at or near Seventh street, be granted, and referred to the Street Superintendent.

That the petition of O. P. Burke et al., residents and owners on Howard street, asking to have their street graded, be granted, and the City Attorney be instructed to draw up resolution to grade.

That the protest from Francisca W. Shepherd against the opening of First street, be filed as not representing sufficient frontage.

That the petition of property owners on Sunset avenue, asking to have lots No. 4, block B, and 5 and 6, block F, in Hay's addition to the Sunset tract, on Arnold street, be graveled and curbed be granted, and the City Attorney instructed to draw resolution of intention.

That the petition of property owners on First street, asking permission to grade the street be granted, and the City Attorney be instructed to draw resolution.

That the petition of property owners on west of Hope street that a tunnel be constructed through the hill from Hill street to Hope on Third be granted, upon the condition that the property owners deposit the amount of the expense with the Treasurer. The petition states that such a tunnel is a public necessity, and when constructed will accommodate a traveling public numbering not less than 15,000.

That the request of property owners on Los Angeles street for permission to improve said street with granite block pavement and stone curbing and cross walks be granted.

That the petition for A. Kinney, asking that the contract to pave Spring street and a part of Main between Ninth and Tenth streets be carried out, referred to the contractors to adjust the difficulty between themselves.

That the petition of residents of Pico street, declaring the Tenth Street Electric Road a nuisance, be granted by ordering the City Attorney to draft an ordinance declaring the poles of the road a nuisance, and providing for their removal.

The Board then adjourned.

FIRST STREET PAVING.

An Agreement which is Satisfactory to All.

The First street paving matter is considered as settled. As was stated in yesterday's HERALD Mayor Workman and Captain Barrett took the matter in hand and drew a contract which they considered would give each of the contractors an equal right in the premises and yesterday the contractors' representatives agreed to the agreement, which will, it is expected, be signed by the contractors to-morrow.

The agreement provides for the appointment of a trustee who shall handle the money and pay it over to the contractors when it is due. It would have been signed yesterday had not the contractors been out of the city. If it is signed to-morrow it is considered that there is yet time to pave and sidewalk the street before the rain falls in any quantity.

New Cases.

Complaints in the following actions were filed in the Superior Court yesterday:

Francisca Cruiza vs. Sebastiono Matroni. Breach of promise to marry. Complaint alleges that the promise to marry was made August 24th and was to be fulfilled October 24th, and in anticipation of this event plaintiff lived with defendant as his mistress, and when she reminded him of his promise on the 20th day of October, he declared that he would not marry her, but abandoned her, and at the time of the filing of this complaint the promise still remained unfulfilled; wherefore the complainant feels damaged in the sum of $5,000.

M. Augustine vs. M. T. Whittaker, Joseph Simons, J. F. Crank, S. P. Jewett and the California Central Railway Company—This is another of a series of suits recently begun against M. T. Whittaker and some of the co-defendants on account of various complications growing out of a contract to convey certain realty in the Rancho San Pascual. The property in this case is 7.85 acres, with water rights, etc., adjoining the Oak Knoll property at Pasadena, and was conveyed by plaintiff to defendant Whittaker for certain considerations, all of which have not been met, and plaintiff therefore asks judgment against defendant Whittaker for the sum now due, and, in case of noncompliance, full restitution of premises. The other defendants, being believed to have or claim certain secret interests in the transaction, are asked to show cause or be enjoined from interfering with plaintiff's recourse. Defendant Simons having started and operated a brick yard on the premises in question, petition is made to restrain him from moving any of the brick now in the yard, and also to compel him to make settlement for such as have atready been removed. The appointment of a receiver is also prayed for.

G. W. Snyder vs. C. W. Harvey—Suit to compel issuance of deed of conveyance and $2,500 damages for withholding of same.

Simpson M. E. Church of Los Angeles has made application for permission to mortgage realty.

A Boyle Heights Reception.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Murphy gave a reception at their beautiful home on the corner of Soto street and Virginia avenue on Tuesday evening, many prominent musical and literary persons being present. A programme of rare excellence was presented, in which the following parties participated:

Signor Modini, Prof. Jones and daughter, the Misses Collins, Miss Wright, pianist, Miss Hanna, elocutionist, Mr. C. B. Mudge, basso, and also Karl King, the mind-reader. Among those present were Judge and Mrs. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, the Misses Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Teale, Mr. and Mrs. J. Teale, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Davisson, Miss Lou Day, Miss Pearl Teale, H. E. Rose, I. S. Niles, C. W. Murphy and A. Frank Randall. Refreshments were served during the evening by the hostess in her usual charming manner. This is the first of Boyle Heights' social events of the season and one that will long be remembered by those present.

To Wed.

The following persons were yesterday licensed to wed:

John Dunn and Ida B. Smith, of Maynard.
Paul Albert and Anna Smith, of Los Angeles.
George S. Eveleth and Annie M. Stimson, of Glendale.
Samuel B. Stedman and Sarah M. Carlson, of Los Angeles.

ROBERT BALFOUR'S DEATH.

A Dose of Carbolic Acid Taken Accidentally.

The accidental poisoning of Robert Balfour, a resident of East Los Angeles was chronicled by the HERALD of yesterday, but as the information concerning his death was received at a time too late to admit of the stating of particulars the mere fact alone was mentioned. A jury of inquest was impaneled yesterday morning, and testimony was received from those who were acquainted with the details of the singular affair.

E. T. Shoemaker, M. D., testified that he was called to Horne and Abel's drug store at 8 o'clock Friday evening to see a man who had been poisoned. He found the deceased in a back room taking some sweet oil. He smelled of the glass from which Balfour had drank the material supposed to be poison, and discovered an odor of carbolic acid. On being questioned, Balfour said that he intended to take some pepsin and whisky, but that the stuff when he drank it did not taste like whisky. When asked to indicate the bottle from which he found the dose he indicated on the shelves a bottle which was found to contain whisky, but one on another shelf above contained carbolic acid. Both were labeled.

A. Vansull, the drug clerk, said that while he was waiting on some customer, he saw Belfour go behind the counter and help himself to something out of a bottle. The deceased had stomach trouble and a cough, and was accustomed to help himself to medicines.

Wm. A. Horne, the druggist, testified that he had known Balfour for some time and that he was allowed to come into the store and help himself to the remedy which he needed for his stomach trouble, which was the elixir of pepsin. On this occasion, immediately after Balfour had swallowed the stuff he came to Horne and asked what it was. The latter smelled of the glass from which the dose had been drank and decided that it was carbolic acid. He immediately gave the deceased sweet oil and sent for a physician, but in spite of all that could be done the man died.

Robert Balfour, the deceased, was a real-estate agent, a native of Ontario, and about 20 years of age. He was a well-known citizen of East Los Angeles.

FIRE MATTERS.

Recommendations in Relation to Hall Exits.

The Board of Fire Commissioners met in regular session yesterday afternoon at the Mayor's office. Present—Mayor Workman and Messrs. Humphreys and Teed.

The bills against the Fire Department were taken up and a large number were approved.

Chief Moriarty reported that a frame paint and carpenter shop was being built in Mott Alley and that its erection should be stopped. The matter was referred to the Chief.

Mr. Teed recommended that a fire hydrant be placed at the corner of Olive and Fifth streets.

Mayor Workman recommended that the Water Company place a fire hydrant at the corner of Georgia street and Boyle avenue.

It was reported that the Board had examined Turnverein and Mott halls and the new Los Angeles Theatre. As to the Turnverein Hall they recommended that a stairway be placed on the south side of the building to empty on Spring street, and that the stairway in the rear be widened to leave an exit on the City Hall lot. In Mott Hall they recommended that a stairway be placed on front of the north side between the first and second columns, and that a stairway not less than four feet wide be placed at the rear opening on Mott alley. The Clerk was requested to notify the owners. The Los Angeles Theatre was found to be in a very satisfactory condition as to exits.

Mr. Dade, who lives next to the Los Angeles Gas Company, reported that escaping gas has caused his wife to become seriously sick and referred the matter to the Commissioners. As Mr. Dade has already taken the matter into court, he was requested to await the result.

A communication was received from M. Kelleher, asking that the Bonchet mill matter be referred to the City Attorney. So ordered.

Applications for positions in the Fire Department were received from the following: C. W. Bandle, J. H. Ward, J. W. Cullmen, J. F. Springer. Ordered filed.

Vail, Brownly and Schroder applied for permission to erect a one-story brick building in the rear of 510 S. Spring street, to contain a five-horse power meat chopping machine. Referred to the Chief.

Chief Moriarty reported that the new engine house on Pine street will be finished in about a month.

Mr. H. T. Warren applied for permission to erect a shed with iron pillows and a corrugated iron roof in the wood and coal yard at 425 Spring street. Referred to the Chief.

CAMPAIGN BETTING.

A Chance for Some One Who Wants to Back Harrison.

Betting on the result of the campaign was rather slow in town yesterday, the odds not having changed during the last two days. Advices were received from New York yesterday that a bet of $25.000 to $20,000 in favor of Cleveland had been registered there during the day. A few people who think that O'Donnell will be the next Mayor of San Francisco appeared on the streets yesterday and wanted to bet. They were soon accommodated, odds of $100 to $20 being laid that the Doctor will be left out in the cold. Colonel Mike Welch, Jr., of the Texas Pacific, who returned from San Francisco on Friday night, says that the weight of the money in the Bay City is for Cleveland. Mose Gunst has $60,000 in his safe that he wants to bet that Harrison will be knocked out, but can find no one to cover it. During the last day or two odds of five to four in favor of Cleveland have been offered in several quarters, a good many hundreds being put up at those figures. Mr. Welch has a good story to tell on the Chronicle men. He says that as he was standing in the T. & P. office on Market street one of the Chronicle's leading reporters came in. They entered into a palaver about the campaign and the conversation turned on the betting that was going on. "I tell you what it is," said DeYoung's scribe in a confidential tone, "we are nearly all Republicans up at the office, but we have not bet a cent on Harrison, and to tell the truth," in lower tones and looking round to be certain that no one was in hearing, "we are all putting up money on the sly on Cleveland."

A LAND WAGER OFFERED.

The following communication was received at this office yesterday, and anyone who means business can be accommodated by application here:

EDITORS HERALD—I am the owner of lot 1, block 4, in the West Rosas tract, situated on the corner of Alpine and Montreal streets, fronting on Alpine 147 feet and on Montreal 84 feet; Alpine street is graded and the tax paid. I value the lot at $4,500, upon which there is a mortgage of $2,000 and about $100 interest. I will wager my equity in this property against property of similar value that the Democratic National ticket will be elected.

The value of my property and that put up against it can be fixed by arbitrators chosen in the usual way (you can name mine), and any difference in the values of the properties can be covered by mortgage, or I have one or more other lots I could put in, if necessary. W. H. S.

THE MONTH OF OCTOBER.

Satisfactory Business Done Here by the Railroads.

The railroad returns at this point for the month of October are very satisfactory. The Southern Pacific does not care to have its exact figures made public, but it is understood that the freight receipts were in the neighborhood of $100,000, and the ticket sales at both the up-town office and the depot $75,000, a total of $175,000 for the thirty-one days. It must be borne in mind that it has not been a representative month in the ticket business, for during the past two weeks overland travel has dropped off a great deal on account of the approach of the election and the general desire to remain at home and vote. Local traffic, also, as compared with the preceding month, does not show quite up to the average, a result, of course, of the excursion service being practically withdrawn. In the freight department of the Southern Pacific it is stated that the receipts for October show an advance of about fifteen per cent over the preceding month, and that the goods shipped in here have been of a good, solid nature, consisting mostly of merchandise and general supplies. During the month twelve carloads of household goods were received, an evidence of the manner in which new houses are being founded here every day.

The Santa Fe people report a good month's business here, although no figures can be obtained. The company has handled a good many raisins during the month, special trains having been sent out every third day for the past two weeks.

The Monrovia Rapid Transit road has shared equally well. Travel is good in both directions, and since the establishment of a bus line into the heart of the city the company's revenue has doubled.

AMICABLE ARRANGEMENTS.

How the Strike on the Santa Fe Was Settled.

General Manager Dan McCool returned from San Bernardino at 5:15 last last. Until his arrival nothing definite was known as to the agreement made by which the strike was settled, this being unknown even to the brakemen and switchmen themselves, who simply acted in accordance with orders from the committee at San Bernardino, and returned to work. Mr. McCool was seen at the Hollenbeck by a HERALD man during the course of the evening, and in response to an interrogation, said: "Everything is running now just as it did before any trouble occurred, and we can handle all the freight and passengers offered to us with as much celerity as usual, I met the strikers' committee at San Bernardino yesterday afternoon and had a conference with them. (The committee consisted of W. L. Bangus, baggageman, C. H. Cowan, switchman, and J. P. Lane, brakeman.) We soon settled matters amicably, I being of course willing, as I always have been, to promote men according to their length of service, if they have the ability. As regards the six men whose promotion some time ago caused the trouble, I agreed to reduce three of them to brakemen and keep the other three, and this proposition the committee assented to. I do not think that there will be any more trouble in future as we thoroughly understand each other now.

All the trains that had been blockaded were soon cleared out of the way yesterday morning, and in the evening the special raisin train of twenty cars went off at express speed as if nothing had happened.

A PLUCKY DEED.

How a Runaway Was Stopped on Main Street.

About 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a contingent of Pomona Republicans came marching up Spring street headed by a few musicians who made considerable din. As they neared the Court House a blooded colt belonging to Mr. J. A. Cowell scared at the noise and ran away, dragging a light buggy after him to which he was harnessed. Mr. Cowell, in attempting to check the frightened animal, was thrown out, luckily escaping without injuries. When the runaway passed the Temple Block it ran into one or two posts, the result being that the shafts were broken and the animal ridden of his incumbrance. This made him go faster than ever, and as the road was crowded with vehicles he took the pavement when outside of the Southern Pacific office. It looked as if some one would certainly be hurt, as the sidewalk was crowded with ladies, and they ran and dodged in all directions, accompanied by a good many of the sterner sex. Outside the St. Charles Hotel, however, was a young man who did not scare, and he jumped at the horse as the animal dashed by. He seized it by the bridle and dragged the horse half way around, throwing the steed off his balance and the two came with a crash to the ground. The nervy young man did not let go, however, and in a few seconds he was seen sitting triumphantly on the horse's head. A round of applause went up from the crowds which were watching the plucky act, and the young man, who was as modest as he was brave, retired from the spot as soon as he had turned over his charge to an officer, who soon afterwards arrived. He gave his name as Charles Matson to a HERALD reporter, and is well known around town as driver for the City Cab and Carriage Company.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left yesterday for San Francisco and the East:

AMUSEMENTS.

Notes From at Home and Abroad. The New Theater.

Maurice Barrymore will be Modjeska's leading man during her five week's season in California.

During the week Hallen and Hart will announce the election returns from the stage at the Grand Opera House.

Nellie Marlborough, a San Francisco girl, and for a long time a visitor here, has become a member of the "Corsair" Company.

A new dramatic paper has started in San Francisco and is called the Western Amusement Record. It appears to be quite bright.

George Turner will take a hack at blank verse with Madame Modjeska. Charlotte Tittel has been engaged for the "leads" with Madame Modjeska.

An attempt is being made to bring M. Charles Gounod and M. Camille Saint-Saens, two distinguished musicians, to this country, in a series of grand orchestral concerts.

Lawrence Barrett, the eminent tragedian, is suffering from a complication of diseases, which seriously affect his performances. The greatest is a swelling of the throat, which has the effect of muffling his once clear voice, rendering his articulation imperfect.

Emma Abbott, who is to visit Los Angeles next month, sang for the week commencing October 22d, at Salt Lake. The company drew crowded houses, and the reperptoire included Il Trovatore, Martha, Chimes of Normandy, Rose of Castle, Norma and Fra Diavolo. Rhea followed for three nights, also drawing crowded houses. The plays were Much Ado About Nothing, Adrienne, Lecoureur and a Dangerous Game.

Nat Goodwin's Marriage.

Nat Goodwin, the comedian, was quietly married October in Chicago to Miss Place of that city, to whom he has been engaged for some time. Mrs. Goodwin No. 2 is said to belong to a family of social prominence. The lady's name was mentioned in the papers in the suit that was to have been brought by Miss Farrell, the actress, against Goodwin for breach of promise of marriage, and the engagement was stated as one of the causes for damages. Abe Hummel, who is Miss Farrell's counsel, smiled significantly when told of Nat Goodwin's marriage.

"I don't think it will make much difference either way," he said. "I had not heard of this marriage, but it does not surprise me."

The little lawyer again smiled, the inference being that there will be an amicable settlement of the whole matter, and that it will not reach the courts after all.

A Chicago dispatch says the lady he married is Miss Nellie Baker, formerly of New York.

Miss Lida Farrell, who sues Nat Goodwin, spent the winter of 1887 in Los Angeles and became quite well known.

The Los Angeles Theater.

The welcome news is heard that Manager H. C. Wyatt has added another theater to his list, the Los Angeles Theater, on Spring street, between Second and Third, just being completed by Mrs. Juana O'Neil. Mr. Wyatt has not been looking after the management of this new theatre, but Mrs. O'Neil, knowing that he had made such a success of the Grand Opera House, and desiring that her theatre should be under the ablest management possible, sent her attorney to Mr. Wyatt, and the result was the drawing of a lease for five years. Mr. Wyatt, as soon as the lease was signed, departed for San Francisco to secure the best possible attractions for the new theatre, which cannot help but become a most popular place of amusement under his management.

"Later On."

Commencing with to-morrow night, Hallen & Hart will produce Later On at the Grand Opera House. Of this performance the Pittsburg Times says:

The Bijou Theater opened auspiciously last night. The house had its seating capacity tested. Hallen & Hart, in a new effort by H. G. Donnelly, Later On, was the attraction, and the audience stamped the medley as success. The piece is made to sustain numerous jokes. There is plenty of singing and good dancing. The farce was excessively radical. The jokes were exceptionally clever and mirth-provoking. As to the company, it is due them to say that few, if any, better organizations have appeared here.

"After Dark."

To-night, and for the one time only, After Dark will be given at the Grand Opera House by the Webster-Brady Company. A river of real water will be on the stage and the piece will introduce a realistic underground tunnel scene and a concert hall scene with M'lle Rene and a number of specialties.

Anschlag Photographed.

Yesterday morning in accordance with the usual custom, Fritz Anschlag, the murderer, was photographed. That portion of the public which is interested in the study of physiognomy will be able to own, if it so wishes, a fairly good conterfeit presentment of his homely features. A blacksmith removed his shackles, and in company with Sheriff Kays, Deputy Sheriff Jennings and Jailor Russell, the condemned man repaired to the photograph gallery of Frank Schumacher. Five different styles of attitude were arranged and successively portrayed upon the negative and a fac simile of his autograph taken to go upon each copy. He was then taken back to his cell and the shackles again riveted upon his leg. He seemed to enjoy the performance as giving variety to his otherwise monotonous existence. ΣΕΝ

Found Guilty.

Jose Napoleon, a Mexican, who has frequently been in trouble with the police, was tried yesterday before Judge Cheney and a jury on a charge of assault to murder. On the 12th of last August he attempted to stab Officer J. J. Hawley when the latter was endeavoring to quell a disturbance in which Jose was the chief mover. The officer threw up his arm, and as the knife descended it cut clear through to the skin, but was warded off from his breast, at which it was aimed. The jury found him guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon, and he will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Children in School.

The total number of children enrolled in the city schools to date is 6,158; at this time last year there were 5,025; the average daily attendance at present is 5,339; a year ago it was 4,386. The per cent. of attendance for both years is 96.

To Democratic Voters.

Next Tuesday the National election takes place. Let every Democratic voter in the country go to the polls and cast a straight Democratic ticket. Let no business nor other consideration prevent you from doing this duty to your country. Scrutinize carefully the ticket you cast. There will be many bogus tickets in the field. Do not let yourself be deceived. Cast the straight regular Democratic ticket, and do not scratch it.

Election Returns.

The HERALD will have a wire and operator in its editorial rooms the night of the election and subsequently, and returns from all parts of the Union will come directly to the office.

We shall be in constant receipt of returns from the earliest moment after the count has commenced; and we have arranged to display the results upon a conspicuous canvas, lit up at night by a reflecting electric light of great power.

The people of Los Angeles will thus be given the returns as fast as they come in; and will, indeed, taking the advantage we have in the difference of time, know results at the East three hours in advance of their publication in that part of the country.

Voters Get Your Register Numbers.

Reports reach this office that at the late Charter election in one precinct in this city twenty-five voters lost their votes, being told at the polls that they were not on the Great Register. This was in spite of the fact that they had previously voted at other elections since the Great Register then in use had been printed. At the election next Tuesday similar tactics may be attempted. All voters should be sure to consult the Great Register at the polls before going to vote. Let them get their register number as well as their names, and thus make sure of their votes. In getting a ballot be sure you have the regular Democratic ticket, and vote it straight. If all our men make sure to vote we will carry this State for Cleveland and Thurman.

THE Christian Advocate of this city says: "There are a few candidates on the county tickets for whom no consistent Christian voter can conscientiously cast his ballot, and we hope all our readers, irrespective of party, will vote against them. They are as follows: Harry Stafford, candidate for Surveyor, who was recently arrested for gambling; Samuel Levy, a wholesale liquor dealer; Martin Aguirre, candidate for Sheriff, a notorious Sabbath desecrator; Albert Osthoff, candidate for Supervisor, Second District, a saloon-keeper on First street." Now, of course, Christian, Jew, Turk, infidel and heathen, we are all American citizens, and as such we all have the inalienable right to vote for whom we please and for whatever reasons may seem satisfactory to us. But none of us, particularly no Christian, has the right to take votes away from any man by misrepresentation. In the above such attempt is made. Mr. Levy is not a liquor dealer. He never has been such in either the wholesale or retail way. Doubtless the Christian paper made this statement under misapprehensions; but it should not have done so. It was easy to have found out the truth.

The County Treasurership.

The Times yesterday published an editorial which calls into question the good faith of Colonel E. E. Hewitt in his public declaration, that if he is elected he will distribute the county moneys on deposit in a number of banks which he named in his card, and in others which he may find solid and satisfactory. The Times affects to believe that Colonel Hewitt will redeem his promise by depositing ninety-nine per cent. of the funds in the Farmers and Merchants Bank, and distribute the other one per cent. amongst the other banks. Nobody who knows Colonel Hewitt believes him to be capable of such a trick. He is an honest man; his reputation for fair dealing has never been aspersed, and, after nearly forty years of residence in California, during which time he has always carried out his agreements in letter and spirit, he is not going, at this late day, to forfeit his good name by an act unworthy of himself and his record. Here is what Colonel Hewitt said in a card published in yesterday's HERALD:

"If elected, I will keep all moneys belonging to the State or county as required by law; and as the county has provided no vault, or any other safe repository, I will deposit such moneys in the First National Bank, Farmers and Merchants Bank, Los Angeles County Bank, Southern California National Bank, Childress Safe Deposit Bank, University Bank, Los Angeles National Bank, and such other banking establishments of the county as may he found desirable and secure."

One would think that a pledge such as the above ought to be enough from anybody; but coming as it does from Colonel Hewitt, it has the significance of a fact which will be carried out honorably in every respect.

The Times, for election purposes, has imagined against Col. Hewitt a course of which he is utterly incapable, for the purpose of placing Col. Banbury, the competitor of Col. Hewitt, in a more attractive light before the people than the Democratic candidate. That paper asserts that the Republican nominee "has distinctly pledged himself, if elected, to deposit the county funds in all the solid banks proportionately, and favoring none." We challenge the Times to show where or when Colonel Banbury has made any such pledge. The only public promise we have ever seen from him on the subject appeared in the Tribune of September 29, 1888. In that he says generally that he will "deposit in the various responsible banks." This leaves Colonel Banbury to place the funds in as few banks as he pleases; for he reserves the right to determine that in his judgment but two or three favorite banks are the only responsible ones, while Col. Hewitt names over a long series of banks in which he will deposit, and then adds such others as "may be found desirable and secure." We might here adopt the Times style of reasoning and say that Col. Banbury may, under his pledge, select two banks (the rest not coming up to his idea of solidity) and place ninety-nine per cent. of the county funds in his own favorite bank and one per cent. in the other one or two.

If the Times has discovered that Col. Banbury "has distinctly pledged himself," as stated above, then that paper has made out the Republican candidate for Treasurer to be a man whose pledges of one day may be set aside the next, for in his letter to the public on the 29th of September he concludes with these words: "Believing as I do that every public officer should hold himself free from all individual pledges and entanglements, I shall go into office, if at all, in that manner." If the Times has found, therefore, that Colonel Banbury has made any "distinct pledges" since that time, then all of his pledges may be looked upon as "springes to catch woodcocks."

Reel B. Terry.

In the "Campaign of Intellect," which is near its close, the leaders of the Republican party have exercised their brain largely in fabrications of the vilest sort. Here is one of the latest from an unconscionable Republican sheet in Tulare:

Reel B. Terry's reception down in the southern part of the State could not have been very enthusiastic. It seems to have soured on his stomach. Last night he referred to that district as the land of "scale bugs and climate," and assured us that if we could view that country as he had viewed it, we would be well contented indeed to stay with our valley.

The following telegram, signed by so many reputable citizens will set that lie at rest:

VISALIA, CAL., November 3, 1888.

Editors of Los Angeles Herald, Los Angeles:

Reel B. Terry addressed a meeting here last night. In his speech at Tulare he spoke in the highest terms of his reception throughout the southern counties. It is not true that he spoke disparagingly of your section. That is a campaign lie. I acted as Chairman of his meeting at Tulare one week ago and the statement made that he spoke of Los Angeles as the land of scale bugs and booms is a lie made out of whole cloth. H. O. BRADLEY,
Chairman Democratic County Committee.

We were on the speaker's stand of said meeting and indorse the foregoing statement as true.
A. S. GLASSCOCK,
W. H. LOVELACE,
CAPT. T. NELSON,
E. DEWITT.

The fact is Mr. Terry has made a rattling and able canvass through this District, and he has made hosts of staunch friends here as elsewhere, who for all time to come will maintain the highest opinion for the ability and popular manners of the Democratic candidate for Congress. In two days more the discussion will be at an end all along the line, and the electors will record their verdict. Hosts of firm friends here will breathe every kindest wish for Mr. Terry's success. If ability and worth be the points on which the result hinges, Reel B. Terry will be our next Congressman.

BOGUS tickets of various sorts are already flooding the country. Voters will be careful in all cases to see that their tickets are the straight regular Democratic ticket. The onslaught is aimed particularly at judicial nominations in those fraudulent ballots. Judge Searles, and even more particularly Judge Sullivan, seem to be the object of these dastardly attempts. No men in the State are better or more favorably known than these two. No considerations of mere party, of section or other motive than ability as lawyers and integrity as judges should influence every citizen in voting for the judges. Niles Searles is the nominee for Chief Justice, and Jeremiah Sullivan for Associate Justice. Do not be misled in your vote. Vote as here indicated. And, by the way, let every Democrat vote his ticket straight from top to bottom. Our men are the best qualified in all respects for the places, and merit every vote in the party. It will be a matter of disgrace to any Democrat who allows any consideration to keep him away from the polls next Tuesday. Let us all make sure of casting one vote. Do it as early as possible. And let it be straight from top to bottom. There are rumors of trades and combines. Republican sources may in all cases be found for these. There is no truth in these on our side. On their part, as usual, no doubt there is, and it is to attract attention from their own schemes that they point to alleged trades among us. Vote promptly! Vote straight!

THE Pasadena Critic says that Rev. Mr. Bresee, at a meeting held at the Tabernacle in that city last Sunday night, used the following language:

A man could just as innocently prostitute his daughter for the sake of revenue as to enter into a combination with parties to derive a revenue from the sale of liquor.

The intemperance of that language is only equalled by the revolting character of the alternative approved by the speaker. What kind of spiritual teaching can a flock derive from such a pastor? A man who holds such sentiments is a menace to society, and Bresee's power for evil is enhanced beyond measure from the position he holds. His utterance is the very lunacy of a mind wrought to fury on a single subject. The Critic has the courage to treat Mr. Bresee and his atrocious sentiment in the manner it deserves. Whatever danger there may be to society from saloons, there is a million times more danger to public morality from the inculcation of sentiments such as Bresee has dared in this instance, to utter from the pulpit.

SEVERAL correspondents of the Examiner inform that paper that Republican speakers in the farming districts are asserting that the Mills bill never came to a vote in the House by sections, and that, if it had, the Republican members from this State would have voted for free grain-bags. This is a peculiarly impudent fabrication. The bill was debated and voted upon section by section. When the jute-bag item was under consideration, on July 13th, Thompson and Biggs, of California, urged its adoption. Morrow, Felton and McKenna spoke in behalf of the jute ring. McKenna admitted that the farmers of his district wanted free bags, but said that they must "take the fat and the lean of protection." He failed to tell where the fat came in. Vandever maintained a stolid silence, as usual, but he voted with his Republican colleagues to keep the tax on the bags. The Republican members of the California delegation joined hands with the speculators in jute, tin plate and lumber against their own State.

THE leading commercial newspaper of New England has bitterly opposed the Grand Old Roman from the beginning. The main objection urged against Judge Thurman by this paper is because of his speeches and votes in the Senate in behalf of the restoration of silver to the monetary service of the country coequally with gold at the time 16:1, and for his expressed opinions that the principal and interest of our public bonds were legitimately payable in silver as well as gold. It does not occur to the HERALD that this is an objection to the solid voters of the Pacific Coast, or to anyone else but the monopolist or "bloated" bondholder.

WE accosted an old-time Republican yesterday and sounded him upon his views as to the business outlook. "Oh," said he, "it will be all right after the election. Cleveland will be re-elected, and as the people know just what kind of an administration he will give the country, business men and capitalists will be re-assured and times will brisk up at once. If the result were otherwise, it would take several months before capitalists would get their nerve up to let their money loose. A great many votes will be cast for Cleveland on the ground that he is a tried and safe man."

OFFICERS of election in all precincts will do well to take note of the blank forms on the outside of the envelopes in which they are to make their returns to the Clerk's office. The idea is to make a semi-official entry of the returns on the back of the envelope for the use of the newspapers. Will the officers in every case in all precincts be careful to comply with this provision, in order that the public may know the results through the papers at as early a moment as possible?

THERE is a bogus ticket in the field which has A. R. Street as the candidate for Supervisor in the Fourth District. J. W. Venable is the Democratic nominee for Supervisor in that district, while Mr. Street is the Democratic nominee for the Assembly in the Seventy-seventh District. Be on your guard against voting bogus tickets.

WE HAVE received the first number of the French paper called Le Gaulois, started in this city by M. Charles Raskin, formerly editor of La Proges. It columns are filled with interesting topics, ably handled, and we are glad to see that in politics it has a strong Democratic leaning.

NO COMPLAINT will be in order as to the fairness of the election in this city. The United States Marshal, the County Sheriff, and the City Chief of Police are all Democrats. That settles the matter beyond all question. There will be a free vote and a fair count.

BLENDING BANNERS.

A Double Demonstration at Indianapolis.

THE BANDANA OMNIPRESENT.

Battle Orders Given by the Leaders of Both Parties—Colonel Dudley Watched.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

INDIANAPOLIS, November 3.—Early in the evening the streets were blockaded with thousands of people to witness the demonstrations of the two great parties, which had been announced. The fears of conflict had been largely abandoned during the week, owing to the extraordinary precautions employed by the authorities and managers of both parties. The best of good feeling prevailed everywhere and so far as can be learned at this hour no casualties of any kind occurred.

The Republican procession numbered about 4,700 men, and was reviewed by General Harrison from the balcony of the New Dennison Hotel. The big Harrison and Morton Cumberland campaign ball, which arrived here to-day, was escorted by 500 torch bearers, and was a noticeable feature of the parade. The finest display was made by the Railroad Club, who had a model of a locomotive drawn by six horses. The Republicans had but half a dozen bands, and for these they were compelled to send to the country, as the Democrats got ahead of them and hired every city band.

While General Harrison was reviewing the parade he received a telegram from New York from Mr. Blaine saying: "The greatest political procession ever seen in New York has been passing the Fifth Avenue Hotel for four hours, and seems endless."

Another message from Henry C. Bowen said: "Never in forty years have I seen such an immense crowd of business men in procession as to-day. Congratulations."

After the procession General Harrison was presented a large glass globe, 19 inches in diameter, by an employee of the glass works of Muncie, the man stating that he made it himself to-day.

DEMOCRATIC PAGEANT.

The Democratic demonstration was equally as creditable as the Republicans, less the novelties, such as the locomotive and big ball.

Chairman Jewett and a number of other distinguished Democrats reviewed the procession from the balcony of the Grand Hotel. About 4,500 men were in line. The Frances Cleveland Club of ladies from Indianola, the Old Men's Democratic Club and the Democratic Railroad Club, were features of the parade. The managers of both demonstrations profess great satisfaction, and the Indiana campaign closed at midnight in a blaze of glory.

CHECKMATING DUDLEY.

Chairman Jewett, of the Democratic State Committee, to-night received a telegram from Chairman Brice, of the National Committee, saying a number of citizens of New York, moved by the Dudley letter, had resolved to place at the disposal of the Committee $20,000 for a vigorous prosecution of every man in Indiana who would practice Dudley's methods. Mr. Jewett has issued the following offer of reward: Five thousand dollars for the arrest and conviction of Wm. W. Dudley upon the charge of attempting to bribe, conspiring to bribe or inducing others to bribe voters in Indiana at the November election of 1888; $1,000 each for the arrest and conviction of any number of persons, not exceeding five, who in accordance with the plans set forth in Dudley's letter have conspired or confederated to bribe voters; $100 each for any number of persons, not exceeding one hundred, who in accordance with said letter shall bribe or attempt to bribe voters.

BATTLE ORDERS.

Democrats Warned to Look Out for Republican Machinations.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 3.—The Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee sent a letter to each Democratic County Chairman to-day, of which the following is a copy:

"Instruct all Inspectors to watch that Republicans do not vote double tickets. Tuesday. The Journal this morning contains full instructions how such a thing can be done. The article professes to charge Democrats with this, but we believe the real object is to instruct Republicans how to commit this fraud."

The Republican Committee early in the day sent the following letter to its County Chairman:

"The Democrats in your county are planning to have double votes cast, no mistake about this. Warn our people quick. Let ballots be challenged. Print and put up posters at voting places offering a reward of one hundred dollars by this committee for the apprehension and conviction of each man who votes a double ticket. Print a copy of our ticket and post at voting places. Force the fighting now."

The Republican Committee also this evening mailed a notice to every town and city in the State, addressed to the public, announcing a reward of one hundred dollars for the apprehension and conviction of any one who at the coming election votes or attempts to vote more than one ballot, circulates false and spurious Republican tickets, alters, forges or mutilates tally-sheets, delays election returns or changes ballot-boxes. The Committee calls upon every good citizen to see that the laws are strictly enforced and free ballots and full counts received.

AT KANSAS CITY.

Negroes Charge a Democratic Parade and Get Hurt.

KANSAS CITY, November 3.—The Democratic parade to-night was attended by some disorder. It is estimated that over 8,000 people took part in the procession. While crossing Walnut street, it is claimed by the Democrats that a number of Negroes threw stones at the procession. One Burgit, of Independence, followed by a dozen marchers, charged the crowd, riding down a Negro and injuring two white men. A farmer from Lees Summit stabbed a Negro.

IT AMUSED "HIS GRANDSON."

Little General Harrison and His Jack Rabbit.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 3.—General Harrison had an unusually large number of callers to-day. The better part of the day was put in by the General in answering his voluminous mail. Among his replies was one to the three Rector boys who sent him a jack rabbit yesterday. He was solicited for a copy of the letter which is as follows:

MY DEAR LITTLE FRIENDS—Your letter of October 31, telling me you intended to send me a jack rabbit for luck has been received. If there is any luck in a rabbit's foot, as so many of the colored people in the South are said to believe, then I think your argument that there must be more luck in a whole rabbit is non sequitur. You can ask your father to explain what that means. The rabbit came yesterday and furnished a good deal of amusement to my little grandson. In the last number of Judge there is an illustration of what happened to a little boy who had a jack rabbit presented to him, which will amuse you, I think.

With kind regards for you all, I am, very truly yours, B. HARRISON.

BOTH SIDES.

The Two Parties Parade in Chicago—Reps Best at Estimating.

CHICAGO, November 3.—This has been a day of parades for Chicago. Both parties took an inning, and as each was desirous of excelling, the result is very creditable in both. The Republicans massed their forces at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and a most creditable showing followed, the Inter-Ocean's estimate of those in line, being 23,000. It took nearly two hours for the procession to pass a given point. As usual the organizations participating walked eight abreast. The entire route through which the parade passed was lined with people. In the evening the Democratic clans gathered. A brilliant parade followed, which was enhanced by the presence of numerous torches and a fair display of fire-works. As in the day time, the streets were crowded with people. The Times estimates the number in procession at 15,000.

Denver Democrats.

DENVER, November 3.—The Democrats closed the State campaign here to-night with a grand rally and torchlight procession, in which seven thousand men participated. Hon. T. M. Patterson, their candidate for Governor, spoke to a large audience.

STORM-TOSSED VESSELS.

The Bark Guy Goss Badly Disabled at Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—The American bark Guy C. Goss, which left Liago, Japan, for New York early in September, arrived here to-day in a disabled condition. She encountered a typhoon on the voyage, and the masts had to be cut away to save the vessel. All the sails were lost. When the storm subsided new masts were improvised and the voyage to this city made under difficulties. Many weeks will be consumed in making necessary repairs before the vessel can proceed on her voyage.

THE RIVERSIDE'S VOYAGE.

The British ship Riverside arrived in port yesterday afternoon, 133 days from Newport. She experienced very rough weather on the voyage and a heavy gale near Cape Horn, during which two men were washed overboard and drowned.

THE FRESNO TRAGEDY.

The Victims of Friday's Shooting Both Dead.

FRESNO, November 3.—Robert Seconce and a man named Hardwick, who were shot and fatally wounded in a fight over testimony given by the former in the Hitchcock-Caruthers slander suit here yesterday, died to-day. Seconce was shot by Hardwick, who in turn was wounded by the brother of the injured man.

THE CASE DECIDED.

In the case of Ida Hitchcock vs. W. A. Caruthers for defamation of character, the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $7,500 and costs. R. E. Seconce, guardian of the girl, and Henry Hardwick were mortally wounded yesterday during the progress of this case.

Sparks.

PARIS, November 3.—The bodies of forty-two victims of the coal mine explosion have been recovered.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Mary Anderson, the actress, and Charles Mitchell, the pugilist, arrived to-day on the Umbria.

BOSTON, November 3.—The game of football at Cambridge to-day between Harvard and Amherst was won by Harvard by a score of 102 to nothing.

LONDON, November 3.—Earl Granville, in an address at Manchester, said he hoped the Foreign Office would treat the Sackville affair with dignity, conciliation and consistency.

OTTAWA, November 3.—The Apostles of the Mormon Church have completed the organization of another church in British Columbia. The Mormons agree not to practice polygamy in Canada.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., November 3.—While Mr. Fessenden, of the Republican National Committee, was in this city yesterday, his residence at Stanford was robbed of $1500 in cash and all his clothing.

Revolution in Bolivia.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—Advices from Bolivia, via Panama, state that a revolution took place at Sucre, the capital of Bolivia, seven or eight weeks ago, the leaders of which were two officers of the army, whose names are Pacheco and Rivadeneira. The artillery barracks were taken without bloodshed, the garrison having to surrender, being short of ammunition. President Arce escaped to La Faz, where he is busily engaged in organizing troops. Another dispatch says General Camacho was made a prisoner by President Arce. The revolutionists have proclaimed Dr. Belisario Salinas as President. The reasons given for this revolution are said to be some frauds perpetrated in the election. Camacho's party is the more numerous.

Sank to Rise No More.

VALLEJO, November 3.—While the steamer Amador was preparing to leave South Vallejo yesterday afternoon, a man named John Evans in attempting to catch the boat, stepped on the gang plank, which gave way and dropped him in the water. He sank in a few minutes.

He Was a Fighter.

Officer Bosqui was called to stop rioting at P. Ballade's place, corner of Alameda and Alisо streets, this morning, and called one Ryan out to question. The active participant in the row, E. J. Robbins, ran out of the saloon and assaulted Ryan in the officer's presence. He was brought to the station and booked for fighting.

Under Grover Cleveland the division between North and South has been obliterated, the soreness that remained in some portions has disappeared. There are now neither Southerners nor Northerners found any longer, but citizens of the great Union, patriots who would be willing to lay down their lives in defense of the Union.—[Hebrew Standard.

"John, dear," said a loving wife, "if I were to die, what would you do?" "But you're in no danger of dying!" "I know I'm not; I'm only supposing the case. If I should die what would you do?" "My dear you might better ask me what I wouldn't do."—[Epoch.

THE OLD ROMAN.

Review of His Labors During the Campaign.

HIS SPEECH AT NELSONVILLE.

Refreshed by His Brush with the Enemy and His Foes Disappointed.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD]

COLUMBUS, O., November 3.—Judge Thurman closed the campaign at Nelsonville to-day and a review of his work makes an interesting showing. It is eleven weeks since he started out and during that time he has traveled nearly 5000 miles. He has made eighty-nine speeches of all kinds, sixty-five of them being from the rear platform of the train which the Judge called his movable stump. He has addressed not less than 140,000 people, face to face. While through the medium of the Associated Press he reached hundreds of thousands more. In view of the near approach of the Judge's seventy-fifth birthday this is a remarkable record, and especially so since he is really in better condition than when he started out on his campaign.

In all his travels the Judge has been accompanied by his son Allen W. Thurman and an Associated Press reporter.

HIS LAST SPEECH.

The Laborer is Worthy of His Hire. Labor and Capital.

NELSONVILLE, Ohio, November 3.—Thurman and party arrived here from Columbus this afternoon, and were greeted by a large concourse of Democrats from all this region.

This mining city, with six thousand inhabitants, gave Judge Thurman an enthusiastic welcome, and to its population was added a great number of people from other places in the vicinity. When Judge Thurman mounted the stand at 2 o'clock, probably 9,000 people were massed in the vicinity, and he was greeted with great applause. He spoke briefly upon the tariff, and then turned to the subject of capital and labor. He said in part:

First, I want to say I am not here to breed discontent; I am not here to set the employer against the laboring man, or the laboring man against the employer; I am here simply to preach justice on all hands, and that every man shall have an honest and fair reward for his labor. There is an annual accumulation of wealth, and that accumulation is wholly—I repeat it, and emphasize the word—is wholly the result of human labor. There is not a writer of political economy who ever wrote one line on this subject that was worth reading, that has not affirmed this to be the truth, and we know it to perfection. The difficulty about the production of wealth is easily solved, but there is another question that is more difficult by far, and that is the question of the distribution of wealth. This is the great problem that agitates society all over the Christian world. This annual product of wealth is distributed between three classes of men: First, the capitalist who lends money to carry on business, and if he charges a reasonable rate nobody complains; next comes the manufacturer or employer who is entitled to a fair reward. If he is content with fair and honest profits, nobody in the length and breadth of the land begrudges him those profits. Lastly, we come to the laboring man whose brawny arms, level head and skill enables him to pile up the wealth, and the laboring man is entitled to his reward or the scriptures are a lie. Our opponents are accustomed to sneer at what they call political economy. They sneer at science. If these men will sneer at science will they not sneer at the words of Almighty God himself, who has declared that the laborer is worthy of his hire.

The sentence, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou earn thy daily bread," was the greatest benediction ever conferred upon mankind, as it made a man industrious and intelligent and saved him from being a poor, miserable loafer. I say, therefore, the laboring man is entitled to his reasonable hire and if he does not receive it he is a wronged and defrauded man. Our opponents are preaching to you that the way for you to get good wages is to have a high protective tariff to tax you on everything you earn, for that is what it comes to. I do believe I am no friend to violent means, but I tell you laboring men's organizations when properly conducted and rightly managed have done more to secure good wages to the laboring men than all the tariff laws that ever will be passed. Your way then to get good wages is not getting down on your knees to Congress and praying for high tariff; your way to get good wages is to maintain your manhood. Other people can make combinations, can form trusts—that word which has become serious—other people can do that. I would like to know why the men who produce all the wealth in this world cannot organize for their own protection. [Great applause.]

Judge Thurman then spoke of the charge made by his political opponents that the Democratic party is the enemy of laboring men and went on at some length to deny that imputation, as he has in other speeches. As he was closing his remarks the crowd call out for him to say something about Minister West's letter, to which the Judge replied: All I can say about West's letter is, that if I had a boy and he was such a fool as to be entrapped as West was, I would disown him. Whether Mr. West is a knave or a fool I do not know; but he is one or the other, too much to represent the British Government at the City of Washington, and Grover Cleveland has told him so and given him his walking papers.

At 5:30 P. M. Judge Thurman and party left for Columbus.

Washington Waifs.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—In his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Fourth Auditor says there was a deficiency of $146,050 in the appropriations for the pay of the navy, which was partially caused by the payment of that fund of the claims settled under the recent decisions of the Supreme Court for longevity in service on receiving ships.

The total bond purchases to date are $92,159,000; their cost was $110,011,000.

The armament for the United States ship Chicago has been nearly completed.

About 150 visiting delegates to the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, lately in session at Richmond, called upon the President to-day.

THE SECRET RECORDS.

How Republican Sleuth-Hounds Hunted Democrats Out of Office.

WASHINGTON, October 21.—An official of the Treasury Department, in the course of an investigation recently which necessitated the overhauling of some dust-covered department records, came unexpectedly upon several bushels of papers which are a revelation of Republican methods in the palmy days before Civil Service became even a hope. The documents, from which quotations are made below, are the official records of the Treasury, and are an interesting legacy from the grand party which is now seeking restoration to power upon the "glory of its past history," and its "unexampled record."

The documents exhibit a condition of affairs unparalled in the history of partisan warfare save among the petty monarchies of the Feudal Ages, when the refusal to swear fealty meant instant death. In these old records runs a story of barbaric persecution that would never be believed were it not that the black lists stand over the dreaded signatures of those Republican executioners who swung the official ax. Human sleuth-hounds were kept in training by the Treasury Department to prosecute a tireless hunt for evidence against the employees. And where no direct or even indirect proof could be found that a clerk held views other than Republican a suspicion that he had a leaning towards Democratic principles was sufficient to behead him.

THESE WERE THE REASONS.

Such was the relentless energy with which these cold-blooded persecutors nosed out their victims that no consideration for long years of duty, faithful service or manifest ability averted for a moment the official guillotine. Old and valuable clerks were discharged because they had "no Republican influence;" because they were "Democrats;" because "appointed by Copperhead influence;" because "recommended by Johnson." Such fatal qualifications as those were much more than enough to drive the most valuable clerk from the service. But when the Department had been pretty well cleansed of these dangerous partisans it became necessary to satiate the craving of more greedy Republicans, and further search was made for clerks of doubtful faith. Then it was that the most astonishing excuses were invented for continuing the beheading to make room for Administration workers. One woman was quickly discharged after years of hard and faithful service because she was "a rebel and of a very bitter Washington family." The head of another fell because he was a "Southern sympathizer." Another's because he was a "border ruffian during the Missouri troubles." Still another was discharged because he was the newspaper "correspondent of the National Intelligencer." Many were got rid of because it was learned that they read Democratic newspapers, and several fell under the axe simply because they had bet on the election of Democratic candidates. And in the case of George Barry, a faithful and valuable clerk in the Bureau of Statistics, the axe fell because he "swallowed the New York World, advertisements and all."

This is only a chapter in their interminable story of outrageous partisanship which marked the Republican departmental reign of terror at Washington during the years following the war. Many were the clerks who were put out simply because they were "Irish," and many there were who were removed only because they had friends who were Democrats. The edict of the headsman was final and beyond appeal. Wholesale discharges were made on the whispered suspicions of Republican heelers, and no evidence was too slight to warrant dismissal. These are facts, and the unsavory legacy left by the party of "unexampled record" is on file among the archives of the nation—a disgrace and a shame to the men who held the reins of power.

A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF.

Here is a copy of one of the documents headed: "List of ladies in Mr. Neale's division, Register's Office, who are opposed to the present Administration:"

Mrs. C. Lawrence, no claim; doubtful.
Mrs. Hoe, from Virginia; no claim.
Mrs. Johnson; no claim.
Mrs. Julia Sidmonds, Baltimore, Md.; Democrat.
Miss Emma Cuppy, Democrat.
Mrs. Mary Killarol; no claim; appointed by Copperhead influence.
Mrs. Laura Martin; no claim; appointed by Copperheadi nfluence.
Miss Micklin; no claim; no Republican influence.
Miss Fannie Cordero; no claim.
Mrs. Borro; put in by Johnson.
Mrs. Payne; put in by Johnson.
Miss Lizzie Stewart, of Delaware; put in by Saulsbury and no claim.

By "no claim" is meant that the clerk was not of "the faith." It made no difference how faithful and competent she was. Mrs. Borro's offense, like Mrs. Payne's, was in having had President Johnson's indorsement. Every one of these ladies was dismissed, as shown by the records of the department, and not one of them was permitted to say a word in her own behalf. Several of the dismissals entailed great suffering and distress upon families dependent upon one poor woman for support.

Here is another list of employees whose heads fell under the axe of merciless Republican persecution:

David V. Ventrer, in Comptroller of Currency's office, is a Connecticut Copperhead from Haddam, Conn. His wife keeps a boarding-school in New York, and has always supported herself.

Mrs. Sophie Kroehl, Register's office, Neale's Division. Rebel or Democrat—same thing.

Miss Annie J. Shirley is a Virginia Democrat. She is in the Division of Records and Files (Library).

Miss Helen R. Stanford, in same division (Library), is a Rebel and from a very bitter old Washington family. Miss Stanford has a half-brother in the Independent Treasury, named Charles W. Sandy, who has occupied a position in the Treasury since 1865.

Miss Metta C. Sparnick is a bitter Copperhead.

Miss E. M. Colcord is reported as a bitter Copperhead; in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

THEY WERE MARKED TO GO.

The following headed "Second Comptroller's office," is a list of clerks marked to go. Some of these clerks, as the list shows, were charged with being "Democrats or Federalists;" one with being a "Buchanan man even now;" another with being "thirty years in the Department," as if that were a crime, and still another with having made some remark about the sermons he had heard in church:

SECOND COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE.

George D. Abbott, class 4, Southern sympathizer, thirty years in Department, worth $60,000 and anti-Administration.

Norton Spencer, class 3, anti-Administration, Democrat.

L. C. Buckingham, class 2, anti-Administration, Democrat.

J. B. Motley, class 3, border ruffian during Missouri troubles.

S. Purrington, class 3, Southern sympathizer, Democrat.

J. H. Huston, class 2, strong Democrat or Federalist; Buchanan man even now.

D. Potts, class 2, Democrat, Johnson man.

W. C. Flenne, class 2, Democrat, Johnson man.

M. B. Goodwin, class 2, Democrat, Johnson man; correspondent National Intelligencer.

A. P. Munson, class 2, Johnson Democrat.

J. L. Cathcart, class 3, Johnson, Seymour and Blair Democrat.

B. B. French, class 4, Johnson Democrat, and writing poetry against Congress after the failure of the impeachment.

D. L. Hubbard, class 4, Democrat.

F. A. Jenkins, class 4, Democrat.

N. Lemon, class 4, Democrat.

G. H. Edwards, class 3, Democrat before the November election; since strong Republican, but bet on Seymour and Blair.

J. H. Sieffert, class 2, left Dr. Butler's church on account of "too much nigger preaching"—didn't like the political sermons.

W. Chambers, chief messenger, Johnson, Seymour and Blair Democrat.

H. Bronaugh, Democrat and Johnsonian.

EVERY ONE DISMISSED.

Not a single one of these clerks was left. They were put out of the Comptroller's office for no other reason than that they were Democrats. One of their contemporaries — the only one left of all then in his branch of the service—says: "They were a very respectable body of gentlemen and attended only to the work of the office. They were not politicians and did not talk politics. Some of them were 'gentlemen of the old school,' who had spent the best years of their life in the public service." The records show to-day that, with three exceptions, they were all dismissed. J. B. Motley, a most competent clerk and upright gentlemen, was permitted to "resign." Spencer, Buckingham, Burington, Houston, Potts, Catheart. Hubbard, Lemon, Chambers and Bronaugh were removed the same day, May 10, 1869—hustled out of the Departments as if they had been highway robbers, and for the reasons alleged in the memorandum.

PERFORMING A NOBLE SERVICE.

Here is an interesting sample of how business was done:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26, 1889.

Hon. Thos. L. Tullock, Chief Appointment Bureau, U. S. Treasury:

SIR: We, the undersigned, a committee of Post No. 1, G. A. R., having been appointed to examine into the political status of the messengers and watchmen of the United States Treasury, and if found necessary, to recommend the removal of those who are undeserving of a position under the Government by reason of either disloyalty, Demrcracy or want of citizenship, report the following persons and respectfully but earnestly urge their removal and the appointment of loyal soldiers and sailors to fill their positions. Respectfully, yours,

F. W. SANBORN, N. B. Pittman, N. TRAUSNE, } Committee.

George Alkon, Mess., Register, Democrat.

Ed. McMannies, Mess., 3d Auds., rank Copperhead, twenty-five years in Government employ. Proof, F. Courtney.

Richard Donovan, Mess., Statistical Bureau.

John Graves, Mess., Register, rank Democrat.

W. Chambers, Chief Mess., 2d Comps., Democrat. Proof, "The Office."

Jno. McCormick, Mess., 2d Comps., Democrat. "Clerk's Pay Branch."—Office.

W. J. Hay, Watchman, Democrat. Also claimed Johnson as his "guiding star." Certificates to that effect signed by W. H. Kell.

Louis Gill, Watchman, Internal Revenue, disloyal. Proof, Geo. J. Wood, corner Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, over drug store.

Michael Flemming, Mess., 5th Auds., Democrat. Proof, Wilder, same office.

VERY OFFENSIVE PARTISANS.

As a result of the pernicious system which made it a crime for public servants to have political opinions of their own, the people's offices were soon filled with howling heelers and offensive, shouting partisans, whose superabundant zeal in the work of "spotting" Democrats was not only encouraged but rewarded by their superiors at the expense of the public treasury. As a consequence, these partisans flourished and grew vigorous and strong and bold in nearly every bureau, division and sub-division of the Executive Departments. They were unscrupulous in their methods and reckless in their charges. In many instances the partisan degenerated into the blackmailer.

The following is an interesting specimen from the archives of the Treasury Department. It is headed "Statement showing the Politics and Standing of various clerks in the Treasury Department, carefully prepared from personal knowledge by Radical Clerks." It is a savage assault upon several Treasury officials whose merit and record had secured their advancement from the lowest to the highest rounds of the ladder, among them Mr. J. Wesley Smith, who is to-day an attorney of Washington City, a man of character, means and excellent social standing—certainly a man of acknowledged ability. Said the "Radical Clerks" of Mr. Smith: "J. Wesley Smith, Chief Clerk of the Second Comptroller's office, was a member of the Johnson Department Club, is a Democrat of the deepest dye—approaching a rebel. He is unfit for his place, a fool, and is not supported by a single Congressman from this State.

HEINOUS CRIMES WERE THESE.

And here is their estimate of an eminently respectable gentleman, who, like his parents before him, lived in the esteem and honor of all who knew him in Georgetown: "J. R. Nourse, Chief of Loan Division, a Democrat and a native of the District of Columbia. Pretends to be Grant and Colfax, but would have been Seymour and Blair. He is a sneak and deceitful—keeps a ring of Secesh clerks in the office, and will unless removed. He must be rooted out."

Here is another interesting list:

"W. Runnion, bet on the success of the Democratic ticket.

G. Barry, bet on the success of the Democratic ticket.

J. H. Robinson, rank Copperhead.

W. W. Wiley, rank Copperhead.

— — Mason, rank Copperhead.

W. De Kraft, rank Copperhead.

A. G. Campbell, rank Copperhead.

P. D. Barron, Johnsonite and Delmarian.

J. V. Coburn, supporter of Johnson's policy.

Charles Clark, supporter of Johnson's policy.

J. H. K. Wilcox, Johnsonite and Delmarian.

— Leech, wrote political articles in favor of Seymour and Blair for the Intelligencer during last campaign.

Every one of these clerks were dismissed the service. The report had its effect.

HOW IT BRED HYPOCRITES.

Those who were not of the Republican faith had no means of escape unless they played the part of hypocrites and expressed "bold, outspoken, vigorous Republican sentiments." They dared not assert their Democracy and they dared not keep it quiet, for in the latter event they were hustled out for want of partisanship. The system was well calculated to put a premium on hypocrites, liars and frauds. Under it it was not even safe to be conservative, for conservatism was considered a crime. The following testimony shows this. The witness is Charles F. Herring, who was Deputy Second Auditor of the Treasury:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, SECOND AUDITOR'S OFFICE, April 30, 1869.

SIRS—At the request of a number of clerks I would respectfully submit the following statement in regard to D. H. Lusk, a clerk in this office, removed to take effect this day:

Mr. Lusk has been in charge of the Division of Paymasters' Accounts of this office for the past six years, and the gentlemen in whose behalf this statement is made have been daily associated with him for from three to six years, and by reason of such intercourse have had a good opportunity of knowing his "political" sentiments.

They state without hesitation that during all o. this time Mr. Lusk has been known and considered to be a Democrat, and not in sympathy with the Republican party or its principles. He was an earnest advocate of McClellan for President in 1864, spoke openly and in admiration of Heister Clymer for Governor of Pennsylvania, that his declarations have always been of a so-called "conservative" character, and against the principles of Republicanism and its representative men. All of which statements they stand ready to verify if called upon. Respectfully yours,

CHARLES F. HERRING, of Natick, Mass.

Hon George S. Boutwell, Secretary-Treasury, Washington, D. C.

DISCHARGED IN SPITE OF ALL.

Herring, to make his case stronger with the Secretary, who was from Massachusetts, and having no doubt, the usual modicum of State pride, promulgates the fact that he is "of Natick, Mass." At all events, D. H. Lusk was dismissed upon his say-so. Paymaster-General Brice went to inquire into the case, and the clerk himself appealed, as was his right, to the Secretary, alleging that his record was good and that political reasons alone had been the cause of his dismissal. The Secretary sent this autograph to Vanderbilt, the Appointment Clerk:

Gen. Brice desires that the case of Mr. Lusk, Second Auditor's office, may not be acted on adversely till after Monday next. G. S. B.

Vanderbilt, however, wanted no Democrats in the service, and he wrote:

Note—The gentlemen in the office with Mr. Lusk are unanimously of opinion that he is, and always was a Democrat. There is no difference of opinion among them on this subject. April 21, 1869. H. S. VANDERBILT.

Apparently poor Lusk was the only Democrat in the Second Auditor's office—either that or Democrats were not counted with "the gentlemen in the office," as the gentlemen were unanimously of the opinion that Lusk was a Democrat!

WASHINGTON, April 17, 1869.

Hon. J. S. Morrill:

DEAR SIR—I have this evening received my discharge as first-class clerk in the office of the Second Auditor of the Treasury. Will you oblige me by ascertaining the cause, as I understand that most of the discharges have been made from political motives. Very truly, your obedient servant, J. F. TENNEY.

This is indorsed:

Will Mr. Tullock inform me? Mr. Morrill is waiting. G. S. B.

"G. S. B." are the initials and in the handwriting of George S. Boutwell, the Secretary. He asks Tullock to let him know about Tenny's discharge—whether it was for political reasons or not. It so happened that it was, but they didn't know that Tenny had a friend in Senator Morrill. Had he been a Republican "for certain," no matter how incompetent in other respects, he would not have been dismissed.

THEY BET THE WRONG WAY.

As was the head of the office, so were the subordinates. If Herring went gunning for Democrats, the smaller fish were expected to follow his example. By way of illustration:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, SECOND AUDITOR'S OFFICE, May 3, 1869

SIR: We, the undersigned, clerks in the Second Auditor's office, United States Treasury, having associated with G. H. Paulsen, late clerk in said office, for from one to five years past, respectfully submit the following statement in regard to the political opinions and sentiments held by him, as gathered from his remarks and criticisms on the speeches and acts of public men in and out of Congress, and upon written articles in the public press.

We have ever regarded Mr. Paulsen as a Democrat; and especially since the rupture between President Johnson and Congress he has been outspoken in advocacy of the policy of the former as against that of the latter; and we have never entertained a doubt of his entire sympathy with the opposition to Congress in the reconstruction of the Rebel States.

T. C. SMART, F. D. CONELLY, KONARD WEISS, T. J STALEY, C. H. HUMPHREYS, H. T. HIRST, J. S. BUCHANAN, A. M. READ, JOHN C. FARQUHAR,

Hon. E. B. French, Second Auditor United States Treasury, Washington, D. C.

This letter was indorsed: "Respectfully forwarded.—E. B. French."

This letter shows how a Democrat, even if a faithful clerk, had to go:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, SECOND AUDITOR'S OFFICE, 1886.

I have always considered Mr. Wilmer a Democrat. He certainly talked in favor of that party, and during the campaign last Fall made two bets in favor of the election of Seymour and Blair. Still he has alwygs been attentive to his duties and a good clerk. GEO. G. COLBY.

I indorse the above. John W. Lugenbell.

It was enough that Wilmer was "considered" a Democrat. Suspicion was sufficient; and upon suspicion he was turned out of the service, although the witnesses who "considered" him a Democrat testify that he had "always been attentive to his duties and a good clerk."

INSOLENCE OF SUBORDINATES.

The viciousness of the system which gave places to those who were without merit or claim other than their activity and zeal, and which put a premium upon partisanship, was manifest in the disloyalty, insolence and insubordination of subordinate to superior. Mental and moral qualifications were not considered if the applicant had the necessary "political pull," as that was the sole passport to public office. The subjoined evidence shows how true this is and relates to a man who rendered long service in the Treasury Department, Mr. David W. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, who went up from the ranks by well-merited promotion until he attained the post of First Auditor of the Treasury. He was the personal friend of General Simon Cameron, as well as of his son, Senator Don Cameron, and of Colonel John W. Forney, and was esteemed by President Buchanan. One of his subordinates, writing to T. L. Tullock, Appointment Clerk of the Treasury, under date of April 19, 1869, says:

I trust while you are making removals of all A. J. and Copperhead men you will not omit Mr. David Mahon, the Chief Clerk of the First Auditor's office, whom I know to be a man tarr'd with the same brush as the above-named class. Mr. Mahon has always been a strong Democratic Johnson man, and some few months since was instrumental in having two clerks removed from his office because they would not indorse Andy Johnson's policy. Their names are Cartrell and Atkinson. He has men in his office who think and have spoken the same way with himself, and is anxious to keep those men in office. I have already given you their names. I am indorsed by such men as Senator E. D. Morgan, Ira Harris, General J. A. Logan, A. M. Clapp, Congressional Printer; General Spinner and others, with Mr. Finney, Third Auditor, and C. C. Baugh, First Auditor. I am, respectfully yours, etc. R. G. HILL.

With the letter he sent a paper giving the names of his fellow-employees who, in his judgment, should be retained or turned out.

THEY WERE BLACKMAILERS.

It is not a matter of surprise that this sort of partisan malignity was conducive to the generation of a lot of vipers, known generally to mankind as blackmailers. These persons degraded and debauched the service and filled the air with their clamorings and vaporings, annoying and arresting those who were peacefully doing the work of the Government.

The following letters are indeed well worth perusal. These poor fellows were turned out because of the newspapers they read:

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10, 1869.

Hon. Thos. L. Tullock, Chief of Appointment Bureau.

SIR—We, the undersigned, a committee of the G. A. R., respectfully ask the removal of the following named clerks in the office of the Second Comptroller, for the reasons attached to each name:

John Houston, second-class clerk, was an old Federalist, afterwards a Democrat and personal friend of James Buchanan.

N. Lemon was a Southern sympathizer, married into a strongly disloyal Virginia family, and has the reputation of being a Copperhead, of which we think there is little doubt. His associations and the papers he takes convince us that he is not in accord with the Administration.

Goodwin was a correspondent of the National Intelligencer, was a strong advocate of the Democratic party, and now holds another position under the Government in the Educational Bureau.

Hubbell is a Democrat.

F. W. SANBORN, Chirman.

Allen Wright, Secretary.

Houston, the "old Federalist, afterwards a Democrat;" Lemon, who read a Democratic paper; Goodwin and Hubbell and, in fact, all on the list, were turned out, and the records show it.

BECAUSE HE READ THE "WORLD."

Here is a most serious charge and unfortunate Barry was discharged. After reading this report his head can almost be heard falling in the basket:

"George Barry, a Copperhead employed in Statistical Bureau. Barry has been, and is yet, a bitter Copperhead; he is one of those that during the war swallowed the New York World, advertisements and all."

Such is the record against Mr. Barry. He was put out.

There was an intensely bitter feeling towards citizens of foreign birth, especially against those of Irish and German nationality. So intense was the prejudice against Irish Catholics that duriag all the years from the close of the war to the inauguration of President Cleveland not one Irish Catholic was appointed to an office of prominence in the Treasury Department. If by chance there ever was one who held the post of Chief of Bureau, even tradition has not preserved his name. Here is a list which charges certain employees with "the crime" of being Irish or German! Think of it! Think how the old party, claiming to-day to be and to have always been the friend and champion of the Irish, and of Irish Catholics, suffered its agents and high officials to persecute clerks, some of whom had fought for freedom at the price of blood, because they were "Irish," "Old Democrats," and "Romanists!" This is a shocking example of the intolerance, the bigotry, the narrowness, the shameless hypocrisy of the Republican party:

BECAUSE THEY WERE IRISH.

"John Lowry, of the Register's office, is reported as an 'Irishman; a bitter Democrat,' and as one who 'tore up Radical newspapers.'

"Edward Schenck, Register's office, German, a bitter Democrat, and no claim upon the Republican party.

"Phelan, Irish; old Democrat. For the protection of radical clerks you must put this man out. Send for rad. clerks.

"Henry Murray, Irish messenger, Register's office, a cop. Got into a quarrel with Nancy, colored, a religious, faithful woman."

And then the advice comes to put out Murray, the Irish messenger, and put "Nancy, colored, a religious woman," in his place. James Ryan, of the Sixth Auditor's office, an upright, kind and inoffensive man, and a faithful clerk, was reduced grade by grade from $1,800 down to the lowest grade because he was "low Irish and a Romanist." So mortified and distressed was he by these repeated insults, meant to degrade him, that he actually died at his desk, and some of the "radical clerks" who wanted "protection" against such as he and Phelan, said in passing by: "Well, Ryan, you have got an Irish hoist." As shown by the register of the department, John Lowry was turned out. Here is his sentence: "Removed April 30, 1869" copied word for word. Edward Schench, because forsooth he was a foreign-born citizen, or "German and bitter Democrat," as he was branded, was turned out the same day—April 30, 1869. Phelan who was reported an an "old Democrat," and consequently "no account," was dismissed with Lowry and Schenck. Here is the record in cold ink: Removed April 30, 1869. Henry Murry went out a month latter, May 31, 1869, having been allowed the gracious privilege of "resigning."

AS TO CAMPAIGN ASSESSMENTS.

Unfortunate was the employee who did not deliver up a part of his salary to help the "good cause." Such alone was branded, and unless he had powerful "influence" and "backing," his place was taken. The Department, being full of partisans, did not lack spies who reported those who failed to contribute. This is the way the spies and monitors worked their end of the line:

BUREAU OF STATISTICS, April 3, 1869.

C. S. Mixter, Acting Chief Clerk, was one of Delmar's particular or special tools. Said last Fall that he was a conservative and opposed to radicalism. When he received circulars last Fall asking him to contribute money to carry on the campaign, he threw it on the floor in the presence of Dr. Nichols, and said that he would not give one cent towards such a cause. Said last Fall he was going home to vote the whole Democratic ticket. He was the principal man in getting up Delmar's electioneering tables, for which the Intelligencer complimented him highly. He is seemingly working to the interest of Delmar yet, in trying to get out every Republican in the bureau who disagreed with him (Delmar). For a full statement of his political character I would respectfully refer you to J. K. P. Gleeson, Mr. Grangrewer and Mr. Jordan, of this office; also Dr. Nichols.

The "Mr. Gangrewer" referred to was A. M. Gangewer, who was afterwards promoted to be Deputy Third Auditor of the Treasury, and held the office until Mr. Manning asked for his resignation.

HE PAID THE PENALTY PROMPTLY.

Occasionally an employee, maddened by repeated efforts to rob him of his salary, wrote his mind to the Assessment Committee, but it went hard with him and his head rolled in the basket.

He is an instance:

UNION CONGRESSIONAL REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, WASHINGTON, D. C., August 18, 1870.

Committee—Henry Wilson, President; J. H. Platt, jr., Secretary; Simon Cameron, Zacharish Chandler, Fred A. Sawyer, B. F. Rice, John H. Ketcham, John A. Logan, Aaron A. Sargent, J. H. Clendening, Assistant Secretary; Wm. S. Huntington, Treasurer.

H. S Vanderbilt, Esq., Chief Appointment Room.

SIR: The enclosed copy of letter from H. G. Trader, of First Auditor's Office, is referred to you for your information.

If he had replied that he was unable to contribute anything, we would have replied that his answer was satisfactory.

We consider his letter as a gratuitous insult and send you the within copy, that you may know the kind of a man he is. Respectfully, JAMES H. PLATT, JR., Secretary.

And this is the fatal letter.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, FIRST AUDITOR'S OFFICE, Aug. 15, 1870.

J. H. Platt:

SIR—I have received your note requesting the sum of $12 as tax on my salary as first-class clerk in this office. I would state that it is as much as I can do to live anyhow, and to give away $12 to persons having ten times what I have, it is something I don't intend to do. I certainly shall not "have the pleasure of aiding the cause" at the cost of my own convenience. If you must have it, collect it the best way you can. Very respectfully, H G. TRADER.

Trader's refusal to contribute cost him his head. He was dismissed five days after the Platt letter of August 15th to Appointment Clerk Vanderbilt. They didn't give him much time. Here is an exact copy of his dismissal, signed by William A. Richardson, Acting Secretary of the Treasury:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, August 20, 1870.

SIR—Your services as a clerk in the office of the First Auditor of the Treasury are no longer required. Very respec fully,

H. G. Trader. WM. A. RICHARDSON, Acting Secretary.

ELECTION LEAVES FOR ALL.

Every employee in the service was expected to go home and vote the Republican ticket and to that end "leave of absence for election purposes" was given him, no matter how long he might have been absent during the year.

This is the printed blank that was filled out for everybody who evinced the slightest desire to go home and put his shoulder to the wheel for the Republican party.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

SIR—As recommended by you, leave of absence for ——— ———, from ——— ———, is granted Mr. ———, in your office, for election purposes in ———.

I am, very respectfully,

———, Secretary.

As a consequence of this system many of the employees were absent from their duties sixty and ninety days in a year. In one bureau alone the absence during a year averaged ninety-three days for each employee. A clerk who did not ask for "election leave" was put down as a Democrat and "spotted." In a great many instances the leave was granted to unconscionable rascals, who used the time for prolonged debauches, and "after putting in a good time," they returned to the departments gloriously "full" of good tidings about the "grand victories" and triumphant Republican majorities which they had helped to roll up at the late election in their State.—[N. HOW MANY WAYS CAN THIS BE READ?

THE LOS ANGELES HERALD IS BY ALL ACKNOWLEDGED have been the prime factor in the discovery and making known of the resources of this section. To its sagacious outgivings more than to any other agency our marvelous development is attributed.

THE HERALD has from its inception watched with a single eye the budding industries of this portion of the State. For each good enterprise this journal has at all times had a word of cheerful encouragement. In spite of the skeptical, it has survived to see all of its earlier predictions fullfilled to the letter.

THE HERALD to-day takes the lead in all respects among the papers of Southern California. Its first care still is the material, intellectual and social interests of its section. It aims to be truthful rather than over-zealous in its publication of news; to be conservative rather than over-sensational, in its policy; to be clean and decent, respecting the sacred precincts of the home and fireside, rather than indecently salacious in its tone.

THE HERALD gets all the news from all quarters of the globe with promptness accuracy and dispatch. Its local staff is energetic and well-trained to miss nothing of real importance to its readers. It is always alive to all public enterprises.

THE HERALD still takes pride in aiding any legitimate material, intellectual or social movement which will benefit the people. No other journal in this section approaches it in those important respects.

For a Clean Family Paper Take the Herald

FOR THE MATERIAL INTERESTS OF THE COUNTRY TAKE THE HERALD!

For Full Local News of All Sorts Take the HERALD

For Careful and Able Editorials on All the Happenings of the Day Take the Herald!

SORE THROAT.

Inflammatory action of any kind in the nose speedily extends itself to the throat From the throat each breath we draw carries the irritation onward and downward through the bronchial tubes; as these are involved the supply of air to the lungs becomes gradually diminished, tubercules may form and bronchitis end in consumption. "Sore throat" is the popular term used in speaking of throat diseases, differing widely from each other in their nature and treatment.

The throat comprises the whole space from the posterior nares down to the entrance into the windpipe and gullet. The several parts liable to disease are the mucous membrane lining the throat, the mucous follicles or little glands, which in health, secrete the lubricating mucous, the uvula or pedulus part which hangs down from the curtain of the palate and the tonsils.

ACUTE OR SIMPLE SORE THROAT.

The most simple form of throat disease is inflammation of the mucous membrane, resulting from recent cold. It is most prevalent in cold or damp weather. The symptoms are a roughness in the throat, with a slight pain and swelling. The throat looks red and angry and the tongue is slightly coated with white fur. Within a few days small whitish spots, which look like ulcers, form on the back of the throat and about the root of the tongue. If the attack be mild, these aphthous points disappear at the end of three or four days, but when more severe they leave behind them superficial ulcers. When the acute inflammation is not entirely removed it is likely to degenerate into a chronic form, and gradually develop what is called granular disease, or it may end in an abscess of the tonsil glands, or cause chronic enlargement of the tonsils and elongation of the uvula.

CHRONIC SORE THROAT.

This, like nearly all affections of the throat and nose, usually begins with a severe cold, and is almost always attended with a hoarseness. It is more frequently a mere extension of catarrh or sore throat than an original disease, the irritation escaping down and fixing itself upon the delicate organism of this part, and thence gradually journeying onward to the lungs. When it occurs as a consequence of catarrh or sore throat, the symptoms are comparatively mild. There may be pain but it is more common to find only a sense of tickling which provokes cough. Many complain of a sensation as of "something sticking there," to get rid of which they keep up a rasping effort to clear the windpipe. The voice is always more or less affected, being rough in the early stage, but more feeble after the disease is fully established. There is often a slight tenderness over that prominence of the neck known as the "Apple of Adam" (Pomum Adam), a heat and a sense of tightness and frequently some slight difficulty in swallowing.

The causes which produce this form of disease are various. It arises in clergymen and public speakers and others from too violent use of the voice. The vocal cords become exhausted and lose their tone from straining and overuse. Dust and all irritating matters in the air are liable to be drawn into the windpipe and produce irritation. It is more often a mere sequel to sore throat, the inflammation extending down to the larnyx by reason of the continuity of mucous membrane.

But from whatever cause it arises it is always a serious malady. The chronic form threatens the complete destruction of the voice, and rarely ends until it has involved the lungs in disease. Every slight cold, every change in the weather, every flight of dust, feeds the irritation and increases the inveteracy of its hold.

On the other hand chronic laryngitis frequently occurs as a sequel of consumption, and is produced, or at least very much aggravated, by the irritation of the expectorated matter. Occurring as a consequence of tubercles, it is one of the most distressing complications and adds greatly to the patient's distress. In this form there is more or less ulceration of the vocal chords, beginning on the lower side and gradually extending upward. These ulcers often penetrate through the mucous and cellular membranes, involving the muscular tissue and not infrequently attack the ligaments and cartilages themselves.

When the laryngeal disease is secondary to that of the lungs, and dependent upon it, we can only hope to effect a cure by those means which will remove its cause, and these we have considered, and shall more fully consider, under the head of "Consumption."

In addition to inflammation, acute or chronic, the larynx is liable to abscesses, to warty growths and to polipi. Under the action of long continued irritation the vocal cords become thickened, rendering the voice husky and indistinct. And again, we may have complete loss of voice from palsy of the cords, constituting an affection known to the physicians by the term of "Aphonia." Unless the remedies are applied to the seat of the disease it is useless to try to effect a cure. It is for this reason that judicious inhalations are successful when all other means have been tried without avail.

TONSILITIS

Is an acute inflammation of the tonsils, which consists of a collection or mass of small mucous follicles or glands whose office is to secrete a portion of the fluid which keeps the throat moist. There are persons who suffer every winter, sometimes oftener, with an attack of acute inflammation of these glands. The trouble begins with a slight soreness and swelling, which gradually increases until the act of swallowing is attended with great suffering.

These glands are sometimes affected by a chronic inflammation, and are found enlarged and very much hardened. In such cases they secrete a thin, unhealthy, irritating fluid, which is spread over the throat, perpetuating the disease. In the throats of many young persons these glands are permanently so large as to render respiration exceedingly difficult. The defective breathing of children thus affected often occasions contraction of the chest, and lays the foundation for consumption. The eustachian tubes (the mouths of which are just above the palate) are often inflamed, and partial deafness is the result.

Many patients suffering from a throat disease are dyspeptic, and suffer from depression of spirits. So often does this symptom present itself that it may almost be regarded as one of the peculiar ties. Persons thus afflicted have usually the dark and dingy look of the face which denotes functional derangement of the liver. They are frequently emaciated, nervous, hypochrondriacal, irritable and often exhausted from other causes, in combination with this disease.

GRANULAR SORE THROAT

Is the most serious form of throat disease. It is so called because on looking into the throat granulations of various sizes are seen, studding the membrane and causing it to appear rough and uneven. Sometimes these granulations appear in patches, but generally they are regular and distinct. When allowed to progress the mucous follicles of the larynx soon become involved, and then we have added to the other symptoms a huskiness of the voice in speaking or reading aloud, with a frequent effort to clear the windpipe, by which a thick, sticky, bluish-colored mucous is forced off with considerable difficulty. The transition from a simple to a granular sore throat is very easy. The patient becomes conscious of vexatious titillation, producing a desire to clear the throat several times during the course of the day. He may not notice this himself, but it is, nevertheless, observed by his friends. Some months later this disposition is found to have increased, and to be attended with an occasional desire to swallow, the patient—to use his own words—feeling something sticking in his throat.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

As Reported by the Fashion Editor of "Harper's Bazar."

The fashion modestes who remain late in Paris have returned, bringing with them the latest novelties, and winter gowns of perfected designs that cannot be obtained earlier in the season. The most elegant carriage and visiting dresses imported are in the Empire and Directoire styles, carried out in brocades of quaint designs, in plain vests and passementerie garniture, or in the dull satin like peau de soie, and when wool is chosen' ladies' cloths that have gay embroidered borders, and are combined with velvet, with peau de soie, white plush or with fur. These rich dresses are extremely slender in outline, and are almost entirely without drapery, their slight tournure being supplied by one or two short steels (only twelve and sixteen inches long), and a very small pad bustle, if any. Wraps are seldom made to match these dresses, as they are to be worn under long cloaks, which may be left in the carriage, while a boa of ostrich feathers, the color of the dress, or else a small fur cape, is worn into the drawing-room. A muff and bonnet of ribbons, lace, galloon, and bands of fur, are made by French modiste to match some of these gowns, but with no reference whatever to the carriage cloak.

The Empire gowns, for which Worth is famed, this season have a simple basque back, while the front is shorter, rounded just below the waist, and covered frem the armpits down with the draped Empire belt, which is now greatly widened and carried straight across—not diagonally as formerly—beginning just below the sleeve in the under-arm seam on the right side, and crossing to hook in the left under-arm seam from the sleeve down to the end of the waist. This belt is the dress material or of one of its combinations; it is about eight or ten inches wide, is unlined, hemmed at top and bottom, and is the only covering the waist lining has from the top of the darts downward. Above the belt the waist may be full from the neck down, opening over a plastron, or else it has lengthwise trimmings of lace or galloon. The back of such basques is in box pleats or leaf points in the middle forms, and square tabs on each of the two side forms, making four tabs, and their edges, even though of satin, silk or velvet, are now finished with stitching in a single row a fourth of an inch above the edge. The sleeves are in the present acceptation of the mutton-leg shape—a full coat sleeve pushed up at the top in wrinkles around the armholes. The skirts of such gowns are all in straight lines, opening over an inner skirt in front the whole length, and with side pieces of the combination material, finished at the foot and sides to lap toward the front or the back. Fringe is often set at the foot of these flat breadths. These skirts are very full, as all skirts without drapery must be, yet they are in folds that make the figure slender; foundation skirts are now made two and three-fourths of a yard wide. As an illustration Worth sends London smoke (gray drab) peau de soie gowns combined with side breadths of black in wide velvet and satin stripes, with the smoke-colored breadths trimmed across the foot with deep vandyke points of black cord passementerie, and opening very slightly down the entire front of the skirt to disclose a band of pale blue moire with red moire on each side of it. These striped bands are made of ribbons laid smoothly upon each other. The basque of the peau de soie has a deep Empire belt of the black striped velvet and satin covering its rounded fronts while above is the peau de soie gathered at the top, with narrow pointed gimp coming down each side where it opens on the gray ribbon plastron with scarlet in the middle and the blue ribbons on the sides, turning away in tiny revers at the top next a standing collar of the blue ribbon, with a turned-over collar of the peau de soie behind, The mutton-leg sleeves have the folds across the top banded at their lower edge by the pointed gimp, and another row is around the wrist, with edges of both red and blue ribbon showing from the inside. A similar gown for a young lady is of bright red ladies' cloth, with the wide belt of the same, and ruches of black lace above the belt, trimmed with insertions of the lace around the cloth skirt, inserted literally, and showing the silk foundation skirt through it, while between these insertions are rows of black satin piping folds, or milliners' folds, as they were formerly called.

Large-patterned brocades of a single color are combined with velvet of the same or a contrasting color for dressy afternoon toilets, and green is the fashionable choice of such gowns. One made by Worth has the brocade of green satin leaves on gros grain ground for the basque with mutton-leg sleeves of velvet, also a velvet vest which turns over in a rolling collar precisely as men's vests do, to show a chemisette of pink crepe lisse gathered to a standing collar of the lisse, which is inside a turn-over collar of the brocade. The trimming is wide gimp of shaded green silk cords, and a very few copper beads set on the front as a pointed girdle, also laid flat around the armholes, resting on the corsage next the full high tops of the sleeves. The skirt has the long full breadths of the brocade opened in front and behind to show velvet breadths underneath, with broad revers of the velvet turned back, with the gimp laid upon them.

Gowns entirely of velvet in the amethyst, rosewood, brown, gray, or new green shades, are trimmed with black passementerie of silk cords in the new open designs that have lace-like meshes wrought in the figures, or else they are mounted over black net of large meshes, which in its turn is laid upon satin of a lighter shade than the velvet. This passementerie comes in sets, and is black by preference for trimming velvet of any color; it forms a very narrow border for edging the front and sides of the skirt, which also passes up each side to the waist line, while wide corner pieces are at the foot on the sides, with sometimes a pyramidal piece set further toward the front; the corsage piece covers the entire fronts, and is in a deep point behind, while epaulettes go around the armholes, and there are pieces for collar, cuffs, and pockets. Large meshed black net is then gathered inside the fronts and around the neck and sleeves. The velvet gowns on which this trimming is used are, as all velvet gowns should be, extremely plain, consisting of a very simple basque with a skirt of six or seven breadths mounted on a foundation skirt, with the velvet fronts scantily gathered, and slightly caught up on the hips, while the back breadths fall straight and are massed in a very small space. Some of these skirts have extra and separate side breadths faced and hanging straight, while others have the fulness behind increased by two separate breadths hanging like sash ends, and caught together with a large knot or strap, giving them the effect of mammoth tassels.

A BLAZE OF GLORY.

The Myriads of Democratic Torch-Bearers.

A GREAT DAY FOR GOTHAM.

The Two Opposing Parties Vie in Displaying Their Patriotic Enthusiasm.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

NEW YORK, November 3.—The Democratic parade to-night started an hour later than scheduled. The crowds were immense; the sight of tens of thousands of men, all bearing torches or lanterns, baffles description. The paraders were fantastically decorated and bedecked with flags and bandanas in every conceivable way. They moved along twelve abreast, but were frequently blocked by the crushing crowd whom the police seemed powerless to handle. Everywhere could be heard the question, "What's the matter with Grover?" with the regular answer, "He's all right." Another refrain they seemed to enjoy was, "Ben, Ben, he'll never see the White House till the robbins nest again."

Behind the dry goods men came the wholesale cloak manufacturers, who proclaimed their sentiments thus: "Free raw material will give us the world for a market."

"Where's Sackville-West?" was a constant query, which called forth the statement, "He's in the soup."

Among the clubs were the Wholesale Dry Goods Porters and Truckmen, Stock Exchange Club, Railroad Club, West Side Business Men, Wholesale Jewelers, Insurance Men, Custom House Brokers, Wholesale Druggists, Boot and Shoe Men, Young Men's Independent Club, Elevated Railway Employees, Produce and Maritime Exchanges, Coffee and Cotton Exchange, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and a vast number of political marching clubs.

While the procession was passing Twenty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, a well dressed unknown man dropped to the sidewalk dead. His body was taken to the station-house.

A PICTURESQUE SCENE.

When Governor Hill and the members of the Reception Committee arrived at the grand stand, it was 8:30 o'clock, and for an hour previous the streets had been packed with people. So dense was the mass that 400 policemen had difficulty in keeping the road clear for the procession to pass by the reviewing stand. The scene witnessed by those fortunate enough to secure seats on the principal stands was picturesque in the extreme, and the array of torches borne by the thousands of paraders had the appearance of a gigantic flame as the bearers neared Madison Square. Several companies of mounted men made a splendid appearance. The well-known figure of Joseph J. O'Donohue, at the head of the Downtown Business Men's Cleveland and Thurman Association, was greeted with three cheers and a tiger from the vicinity of the Governor's box. It took nearly four hours for the procession to pass the grand stand. Estimates of the number in the procession range from 50,000 to 75,000.

EXCITEMENT AT REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.

At Republican headquarters up to midnight was most exciting. Fifty police were kept busy clearing the crowds from the vicinity. The officers had all they could do to quiet the disturbances which occurred between the representatives of the different political beliefs.

All the Democratic organizations of Brooklyn, numbering 25,000, made the final demonstration this evening by a grand parade through the principal thoroughfares.

REPUBLICAN DEMONSTRATION.

Business Men and Wall Street Millionaires' Parade.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Broadway was thronged with people this afternoon to witness the start of the Republican parade of business men. The weather was much the same as that of last Saturday when the Democratic business men paraded. Rain came pouring down steadily from out of the leaden sky, but this did not seem in any way to dampen the ardor of the paraders. Promptly at 1 o'clock the procession moved with Grand Marshal Mitchell at the head. The American flag was omnipresent in the ranks of the paraders, on building and in windows along the route of the procession. Multitudes of people thronged the route. Crowds of sightseers stood on roofs, in windows and in doorways and cheered the different organizations as they passed, and the paraders frequently joined in. Immediately behind the Marshal came a string of twelve horses in a double line drawing a truck bearing the model of a steamship. The vessel was intended to represent the Dolphin, which was at first declared to be unacceptable to the Government, but is now considered one of the best vessels in the navy for coast defense. Alongside the model were seventy-five men in seamen's uniforms. They came from the docks of Ward's line of Havana steamships, and carried a banner inscribed, "The Democrats killed John Roach, but his spirit goes marching on."

One of the most striking and unique features of the parade was the appearance presented by the Americus Club of Pittsburg. There were 275 men in line. The men wore Tweed suits and white hats and each carried an umbrella, around the outside of which were stars, while the ribs were alternately red, white and blue, thus making a national flag. They wheeled out of Liberty street to take their place in the parade behind the Philadelphia clubs. They were preceded by a standard inscribed "Pennsylvania is at your back."

WALL-STREET MILLIONAIRES CHEERED.

When the Wall-street business men swung into Broadway from that street, headed by the Seventh Regiment Band, there was a big shout from the crowd that lined either side of the street. First came the Coffee Exchange, followed by the Tobacco men. Every man of the latter had a leaf of the tobacco plant suspended to the lapel of his coat, or a mammoth plug suspended from his neck. The Brokers' Club was one of the features of the parade. Each man carried a cane, to which was attached a small American flag. Then came the members of the Consolidated Exchange; the other associations filing into Broadway from Wall street being the Produce and Maritime Exchange, Custom House Brokers, Cotton Exchange, A. R. Whitney, Bowling Green, Harrison and Morton Workingmen's Protective Association and Coal Trade. Then followed the various trades societies and organizations.

Above Chambers street beggars description. Crowds obstructed the sidewalks, and the windows of the tall buildings on both sides of Broadway were filled with spectators. In Chambers street for many blocks above the marching clubs waited for over two hours after the head of the procession had passed them before their right was uncovered by the organizations starting further down town. In fact, the extreme left of the line was not in motion until after 5.

BLENDED INSIGNIA.

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed all along the line. Here and there on the buildings among the display of stars and stripes and Republican insignia, were occasional Democratic decorations of bandanas, papers bearing Chinese characters and pictures of President Cleveland. The paraders flaunted their little American flags and hissed the bandanas and groaned at the portraits of the Democrstic candidates. The headquarters of the Republican National Committee was completely decorated, and a banner bearing the portraits of the candidates waved over the cheering thousands. Mr. Warner Miller, Hon. Levi P. Morton, Colonel Kruger and General John C. Fremont reviewed the parade from the stand at Worth monument, Madison square. Hon. Jas. G. Blaine watched the pageant from one of the windows of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and afterwards expressed regret that he had been unable to get to the reviewing stand. It is estimated that at least fifty thousand men participated in the parade. While approaching the stand Broker William J. Osborne, one of the paraders, dropped dead and was borne away. Shortly above the reviewing stand the parade was disbanded.

BLATANT BLAINE.

His Latest Batch of Sophistry and Demagogic Vaporings.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The Republican campaign in Brooklyn closed to-night at Clermont avenue rink with a speech by Hon. James G. Blaine, under the auspices of the organization of Irish Protectionists. The structure has a capacity to accommodate 5,000 people, and they were there to-night and more, too. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance. Judge Rooney presided and essayed a speech, which was cut short by shouts for Mr. Blaine, who advanced and spoke substantially as follows:

I did not come here to-night to make a lengthy speech, but briefly to sum up the case. Are you in favor of a protective tariff? [Cries of "Yes, yes."] Then vote for Harrison. [Cries of "We will."] Are you in favor of paying pensions to deserving soldiers? [Cries of "Yes."] Then vote for Harrison. [Cries of "We will vote for him."] Are you against the President using the veto as if he were a voter in the Senate or House of Representatives? [Cries of "We are."] Then vote against Cleveland. [Cries of "We will."] Are you in favor of a thorough American system through and through? [Cries of "We are."] Then vote for Harrison. Are you in favor of using the surplus in the Treasury of the United States to pay the public debt? [Shouts of "Yes."] Then vote for Harrison. ["Yes we will."] Are you against taking $60,000,000 out of the public Treasury and loaning it to favorites without interest? [Cries of "No."]

Well, I have something more to say on that point, for I have learned something since I last spoke on it. Not only have they taken sixty millions of dollars and loaned it to pet houses in the United States, but they have done it through the agency of banks established by Mr. Jordan and by the late Mr. Manning. They have made them sort of a Government bureau. They gave them $1,100,000 as a fixed balance to call their own, and then they have allowed them to peddle out this $60,000,000 to other banks and by that means tried to get a large number of banks throughout the country to give them their entire business, and I say here that Louis XIV, or Peter the Great of Russia, or Napoleon at his most absolute period would never have dared to treat the treasury of their respective countries in that way—never. And I wonder that it has not made a more profound sensation in this country. They have said, such papers as the New York Times and Evening Post, that Secretary Sherman did the same. Well, I have been denying that a good while, and this morning I read a speech from Secretary Sherman himself, and he explained exactly the difference. When Secretary Sherman made that marvelous loan of 4 per cents in 1879, they were sold through the banks and paid for at the banks' counters. The money was merely in transit between those who paid for fours, and the man who got his pay for the surrendered fives and sixes. But these men have taken the money in the Treasury, and against every provision of the law, have dipped their hands in up to the elbows and helped their friends. The most corrupt thing you can conceive of is to take money out of the Government and give it to the banks, who can use it and use their influence for the party in power.

I saw to my regret in a paper the accusation made that the extradition treaty had been injuriously amended by the Republican Committee and reported to the Senate by a Republican. I state positively, and state of my own knowledge, that there is not one particle of foundation for that allegation, and that like the fishery treaty which surrendered our rights in the fisheries, this extradition treaty is supported by Democratic Senators, and by them alone.

Referring to the Republican parade which he witnessed to-day, Mr. Blaine said: It was the most mighty political procession that ever trod the streets of New York, and compared with that which the President of the United States came here last week to review, why that was a picket guard merely to the Republican army, and, gentlemen, that procession is prophetic. It means that the people of New York are aroused, not on old party lines, not the old fashioned fight between Democrats and Republicans, but a fight between the protectionist and anti-protectionist; a fight between protection and free trade.

After the meeting Blaine was driven to a mass-meeting in the Grand Army hall in the Eastern District of Brooklyn, where he made a short speech, saying in part: We must stand together in the election. This Union carries the flag of the Union instead of the dirty bandana; for without any disrespect to the candidate for Vice-President, I think one of the most extraordinary campaign badges is a pocket handkerchief that a snuff-taker uses in his extremity. Yes, I prefer the banner of the United States, which was borne up the great avenue of New York by 60,000 people, and under that flag and under the flag of protection we shall win a victory on Tuesday next.

After this speech Mr. Blaine was conducted to the skating rinks on the outskirts of the city. His fatigue was apparent, and he spoke but a few moments.

After all the talk and bluster on the subject, the United States Senate did not have the courage to come to a vote on the tariff bill. Was the charge true that the bill was purely and only for campaign purposes?—[Baltimore Herald, (Ind.)

PACIFIC COAST.

Democracy Triumphant at Pomona.

A GRAND DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Republican Ardor Somewhat Cooled in 'Frisco—A Double Stage Robbery.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

[Special to the HERALD.]

POMONA, Cal., November 3.—Democracy is triumphant in Pomona, notwithstanding the fact that the cowardly leaders of the Republican party have persuaded the Pomona band, which is largely Republican, to break their engagement with the Democrats and go to Los Angeles on an excursion consisting of thirteen Pomona letter-fraud disciples of one fool (Murchison), and one colored boy, the Democrats had one of the most enthusiastic meetings of the campaign. Col. Harris, of Pasadena, in a thirty-minute speech captured the workingmen completely. Major McRory, late of New York, in a neat address aroused the sympathies of all present in favor of the great and good Grover Cleveland. Major Arbuckle came late, but not least, with one of his able, unanswerable speeches. He aroused the large audience to a pitch of enthusiasm which fairly shook the Grand Opera House, which was filled to overflowing. At the close of his speech the people, who were almost unwilling to leave, and many who had been Republicans, announced themselves for Cleveland and Thurman and tariff reform.

ENTHUSIASM DECREASED.

The 'Frisco Republican's Final Parade Not as Their First.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—The Republican parade this evening was the closing demonstration of the campaign in this city, and every effort was made to make it an affair equal to any similar event ever held on the Coast. Crowds began to gather on the streets long before it started and by 8 o'clock Montgomery, Kearney and the blocks on Market street were densely packed. A great number of houses along the line of march were gaily decorated, and brilliant illuminations were to be seen everywhere. Governor Waterman witnessed the procession from the balcony of the Occidental Hotel. In point of numbers the parade was probably equal to any held during the campaign, and the total number of men in line is variously estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000.

There was a half-hour's delay in starting, but very few halts were made afterwards, and the different divisions fell into line promptly and moved along the streets as rapidly as their crowded condition would permit. Temporary stands had been erected at close intervals, upon which red and green lights burned continually, which, with fire wagons and thousands of torches and other lights in the procession, gave an appearance of more than usual attractiveness.

One of the principal features of the parade was the large number of uniformed clubs, not only from this city but from almost every large town or city within a radius of fifty miles.

The industrial parade was probably not equal to the first Republican parade held here in September. Hundreds of employees of various business houses in the city and large representations of almost ever trade and branch of industry in the State were to be seen in line, but there was no attempt to display so many large truck and heavy floats as on the former occasion.

There were eighteen divisions in the procession and a band preceded each. The Grand Marshal and his cavalcade of aids occupied the front of the line, escorted by army and navy veterans and the Republican Alliance of Oakland. The State Central Commistee and County Committee appeared on foot at the head of the column, and with them marched W. W. Morrow and a number of other prominent Republicans. The industrial representations and uniformed clubs were distributed among the different divisions.

The fine appearance of many of the marching organizations, together with the various movements they performed with much precision, called forth much applause from the spectators.

DOUBLE STAGE ROBBERY.

The Old Gang in Santa Barbara County Again Active.

SANTA BARBARA, November 3.—To-day at 12:30 o'clock the two stages running between Los Olivos and Santa Barbara were robbed three miles this side of Home Station. About $45 was taken from passengers on the stage which arrived here this afternoon. The mail pouches were cut open and registered mail totally destroyed. Many letters have been opened. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express box was opened, containing two sealed envelopes, each containing canceled checks from San Luis Obispo to Los Angeles. Both letters were opened and contents not disturbed. No money or articles of value were in the box. The stage which left Santa Barbara this morning, was also robbed. No particulars.

A REPUBLICAN STOOL-PIGEON.

What the Know-Nothings Have Their Being For.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—Frank M. Stone, nominated for Congress in the Fifth district by the American party, has addressed a letter to the Chairman of the State Central Committee of the American party, in which he states that he has decided not to permit the use of his name, but has decided to support Hon. T. G. Phelps for that office.

A Reed Shaken by the Wind.

SAN BERNARDINO, November 3.—A grand demonstration was given by the Republicans to-night, the occasion of speaking by Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, and Congressman Vandever. The visiting delegations were from Riverside, Colton, Highland, Ontario and other places. A thousand torches were in the procession and a dozen floats, representing various mechanical, agricultural and pomological industries.

An Unsatisfactory Verdict.

PORTLAND, Ore., November 3.—The jury in the case of Sol Abraham against the Oregon and California Railroad Company, returned a verdict for plaintiff for $3,623. He sued for $23,958, and will ask for a new trial.

A Campaigner Injured.

REDWOOD CITY, November 3.—Charles Janke, of Belmont, one of the aides in the Republican procession here to-night, was thrown from his horse and critically injured.

NEWS MISCELLANY.

An Ancient Land Grant Revived.

TRIPLE KILLING IN TEXAS.

A Clever Express Robber's Big Haul. Budget of Foreign and Domestic News.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

SANTA FE, N. M., November 3.—A man named Hodges has notified Surveyor-General Julian that he and his brothers and sisters are the rightful owners of a tract of land thirty miles square, containing nearly 600,000 acres, in Colfax county, New Mexico. Title to this vast territory is claimed under a grant alleged to have been made by the Crown of Spain in 1685 to present claimants' natural ancestors who bore the peculiar name of Corpus-Christi. The land claimed is located in the vicinity of the towns of Raton, Springer and Folsom, and probably includes the last two named. A portion of the Maxwell grant and a large number of claims of settlers are jeopardized by this grant.

THE RACE COURSE.

National Jockey Club and Bay District Races.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—This was the last day of the fall races of the National Jockey Club. The weather was fine and the track fast.

Three-fourths mile—Wahsatch won, Caron second, Passport third; time 1:16.

One and one-fourth miles—Bella B. won, Frank Ward second, Favor third; time 2:10.

Three-fourths mile—Reporter won, Tom Vaughan second, Wheeler T. third; time 1:16¼.

Mile—Swift won, Judge Murray second, King Crab third; time 1:44¾.

Mile—Lafittee won, Bellwood second, Drake third; time 1:44¾.

BAY DISTRICT RACES.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—In the pacing at the Bay District track for a purse of $300 there were two starters. Little Hope took the first, fourth and fifth heats and the race; Mink second and third heats. Best time, 2:24.

Trotting, five starters—Gracie S. took first heat; the second was a dead heat between Gracie and Hugh Patrick; Gracie took third and fourth heats and race. Best time, 2:30.

Sable Wilkes in an effort to break the three-year-old record of 2:18¾, made a mile in 2:18.

Match trot between Junio and Jim L postponed.

EXPRESS ROBBERY.

A Daring Robber, Single Handed, Makes a Big Haul.

NEW ORLEANS, November 3.—The United States Express Messenger on the New Orleans and Northwestern Railway, which arrived here this morning, was robbed at 5 A. M. between Lacey and Derby Station, fifty miles from this city. The express officials decline to state the amount of the robbery, but it is understood that the loss is between $40,000 and $50,000.

The robber entered the express car, where Henry McElroy, baggage master, was sitting near the middle of the car and the express messenger, Charles Laurey, at one end checking off freight. The robber came first to the baggagemaster and presenting a pistol required McElroy to hold up his hands. Quickly throwing a sack over McElroy's head, the robber gave his attention to the messenger, who was required at the point of the pistol to open the safe. A sack was then placed over the messenger's head, while the robber proceeded with the work of securing the money. After securing the contents of the safe, the robber pulled the bell rope. When the train stopped he left the car unobserved. When the express car was finally reached by the conductor both McElroy and Laurey were found standing with their hands up and the sacks over their heads. They were under the impression that the robber was still present.

GOTHAM GOSSIP.

Beginning of A Long Voyage—A Great Invention, Etc.

NEW YORK, November 3.—John J. Phelps' schooner yacht Brunhilda sailed this morning for a voyage around the world.

TO REVOLUTIONIZE TELEGRAPHY.

Dr. Harris, of Washington, is the inventor of a new system of machine telegraphy, by which messages are printed at the farther end, the sending instrument being similar to a type writer. He claims that he is able to send two hundred words a minute, and will revolutionize telegraphy, making it cheaper to send by wire than mail.

A PHILANTHROPIST'S WILL.

The will of the late John Guy Vassar was presented for probate at Poughkeepsie yesterday. The opening sentence is as follows: "Having no lineal heirs, my desire and aim in the disposition of my property is to do the most good and forward the cause of humanity."

In accordance with this sentiment, nearly all of the estate is willed to public institutions in and about Poughkeepsie, the leading bequests being to Vassar College, in which three new chairs are established, besides a heavy endowment to Vassar Orphan Asylum and Vassar College.

CANADIAN CHIPS.

Mormons Settling in the Dominion.

OTTAWA, Ont., November 3.—According to returns received by the Department of Agriculture over 200 Mormons have emigrated from Utah to the Canadian Northwest during the past season. Settlements have already been established south of the Canadian Pacific and are thriving. The Mormons cannot take up land before agreeing to abandon polygamy. They are devoting themselves to cattle raising.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

Before taking action with regard to the removal of the Chinese interpreter from Victoria, the department will see what effect the United States Exclusion bill will have on Chinese immigration into Canada. It appears from recent returns to the department that a large majority of the Chinese entering Canada of late have landed at Vancouver. The necessity of keeping interpreters at either port depends on the trade of the future, but no doubt, owing to the large Chinese trade done at Victoria, an interpreter of some kind will have to be kept at that place.

COLLECTING CUSTOMS ON CORPSES.

A customs provincial officer at a New Brunswick outport collected duty recently on a casket containing a body being brought into Canada from Boston for burial. Application has been made to the department asking that the duty collected be refunded.

THE WINNIPEG CROSSING TROUBLE.

WINNIPEG, Man., November 3.—The Manitoba crossing came before the Railroad Committee of the Provincial Council at Ottawa yesterday. Clarke, solicitor for the Canadian Pacific, submitted the case as prepared for submission to the Supreme Court. A decision is expected next week. The hostile forces are still gathered at the crossing. Everything indicates the intention to force a crossing if possible. Meantime, anticipating a hostile decision in the Supreme Court, the Government has given notice of its intention to apply to the Dominion Parliament at Ottawa, which convenes in January, for permission to cross the Canadian Pacific tracks.

THE CZAR'S ESCAPE.

Reports of the Wreck of His Train Growing in Seriousness.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 3.—An official messenger states that the Czar's feet and the Czarina's hand were injured in the accident to the imperial train last Monday. Despite their injuries, the Czar and Czarina devoted themselves to attending to other persons more severely injured. Almost every member of the Imperial suite received contusions. Twenty-one attendants were killed and thirty-seven seriously injured, one of whom has since died.

Persons who were on the train confirm the official version of the cause of the accident, namely, a defective track.

A Triple Killing.

CANTON, Tex., November 3.—James Bell, Ben Russell and George W. Griffin were killed in Van Zandt county on Wednesday night. Russell was accused of a misdemeanor, and W. L. Hayes, Sam Stanford, Claude Stanford and Will James went to arrest him. The three Negroes were met and told to throw up their hands. Before they could comply they were shot down. The friends of the dead men assert that they were killed as the result of a political quarrel.

A Collision.

TOLEDO, O., November 3.—The northbound Michigan Central train from Detroit collided with a pony engine at the Air Line junction in the suburbs this morning. Both engines and the front end of the baggage car were wrecked. The engineers and firemen of both engines and one passenger were severely but not fatally hurt.

Baseball.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—Oakland, 6; Pioneers, 5.

Eastern Echoes.

MEMPHIS, November 3.—A slight earthquake occurred here this morning.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., November 3.—Yale opened the football championship series to-day by defeating the University of Pennsylvania, 58 points to 0.

BOSTON, November 3.—The liabilities of William D. Forbes, late President of the National Bank of Redemption, are $200,000. Nominal assets, $60,000 to $75,000.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., November 3.—The river steamer Fashion sank near Manchester Island. The passengers and crew escaped in a boat. Total loss, $30,000.

SAGINAW, Mich., November 3.—This morning a hose-cart going to a fire collided with a heavy wagon, throwing six firemen to the ground, the cart falling on them. All were badly hurt and some may die.

GARDNER, Mass., November 3.—The Russian Finns in the strikers' places at Heywood Bros. & Company's chair works were last night attacked and beaten unmercifully. The Finns had their dirk knives and revolvers taken from them. One Finn is reported dead. Some thirty or forty left to-day.

Cable Flashes.

ROME, November 3.—The Catholics of Australia and India have presented the Pope $1,000,000.

BERLIN, November 3.—The report is confirmed that Von Schloeser, Prussian Minister at the Vatican, has been recalled.

PARIS, November 3.—The Court has ordered that the affairs of the American Exchange in Paris be wound up under the supervision of the Court.

A terrific explosion occurred to-day in the Campaignac coalpit. Eighty miners were killed. Twenty-two bodies have been recovered.

Advices from Saigon say that pirates attacked a post consisting of forty men of the Foreign Legion and seven pagodas, and killed all but one man.

LONDON, November 3.—Captain O'Shea has written a letter in reply to the one written by Marcourt, and states he will not imitate Harcourt in discussing evidence given under oath.

COPENHAGEN, November 3.—The opposition party in the Eolkething are using every effort to defeat the government's plan for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Christian's accession to the throne.

Depot Jottings.

A Sunset excursion for the East will leave the city to-night.

M. J. Hubert, one of the leading men in the S. P.'s management, was in the city yesterday.

There was heavy local traffic into the city yesterday on account of the political demonstration.

No washouts were reported on the desert last night, the rains not having reached there yet.

Mr. T. J. Urquhart, Division Superintendent for the S. P. at Mojave, was in the city yesterday.

A Cry of Dissent.

Those interested in the widening of Second street are becoming anxious that something should be done in the matter. A petition is in the hands of Councilman Collins signed by nearly all the property-holders on Second street, from Fort to San Pedro, asking that the Grange House on Los Angeles street be removed. This building stands almost in the center of the surveyed road, and until it is taken away Mr. Wicks will not deed to the city certain right-of-way property on the end of Second street near the river.

HOLLYWOOD!

The beautiful foothill suburb of Los Angeles at Cahuenga Pass is higher than the highest point in the city. This most lovely spot is situated six miles west of Los Angeles in the frostless belt. It possesses the finest soil in the world—nothing equal to it elsewhere. It will grow successfully the most delicate flower or tender plant in midwinter, without irrigation; in fact, we never irrigate this foothill land. It does not require it. It is a very healthy location. No malaria, but little fog, pure, unmolested ocean breeze every day in the year. Pure, soft water. Therefore no more healthy location can be found anywhere. Fine view of ocean vessels, city, valley and mountain. We defy competition in all of the advantages that go to make A DESIRABLE SPOT FOR A HOME! It cannot be beat. Yes, it cannot be equaled. I know this is saying a great deal. I am willing to stake my reputation on what I say. I am residing at Hollywood, and intend to make it our permanent home. A number of fine buildings are now being built at this point. Water is being piped. Cement sidewalks are being put down. The Cahuenga Valley Railroad is finished to this place, and six trains each way are now running on this road. See time table. This railroad is running in connection with the Second-street Cable. Half-fare tickets will be sold to persons residing at Hollywood, thus affording splendid connection with the city. The Los Angeles County Railroad will soon be completed and running to this place.

HOLLYWOOD

Is now for the first time offered for sale, at low prices and easy terms, in quantities to suit purchasers. Special inducements will be offered to persons making valuable improvements, until a certain number of fine houses are secured. After that is done, then land and lots at this point will be held firm for what they are really worth. There is from 6 to 7 acres in a block, and nearly a half acre in a lot. Ask any old citizen of Los Angeles about this location, and then call on me at Hollywood, or WILCOX & SHAW, 34 North Spring street, or on any good reliable real estate firm in Los Angeles, all of whom are hereby authorized to act as my agents.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

Pith and Point of the Political Battle.

THE PRESS AND PLATFORM.

Democratic Doctrine on Tariff Reform as Taught by the Great Leaders East and West.

A. J. STREETER, the Presidential candidate of the Union Labor party, who has been making a canvass for himself in the Western States, has a letter in the Chicago News, which is summarized as follows: Mr. Streeter thinks that from what he saw in Indiana the State would probably give Cleveland a majority; Illinois is doubtful on the Presidential ticket and surely Democratic on the State ticket, because of the Labor vote; while he regards Iowa as "a doubtful State, with the chances in favor of the Democrats." He closes by saying, "In my opinion this campaign will be a Waterloo for the Republican party."

Connecticut cast 137,233 votes at the last Presidential election. It is claimed that there will be 15,000 new voters this year, of which the Democrats will get two-thirds, Cleveland's plurality was 1,284 four years ago. The Butler vote was 1,684, which we will get this year, which will offset all Mugwump losses. The "pay-envelope" method of intimidation has injured rather than helped the High-Tax intimidators in the "Nutmeg" Commonwealth. The heaviest fight is being made against Vance and Granger, the Democratic Congressman from the First and Fourth Districts. The State will go for Cleveland by anywhere from 3,000 up, but Fry-the-Fat Foster may get in his work on the "Democratic Hessian" Congressman.

The following is an extract from a private letter written two days ago by Hon. I. D. G. Nelson, State House Commissioner of Indiana, who resides at Indianapolis. Mr. Nelson is an old citizen of Indiana, has had a wide experience in the politics of that State, and is regarded an exceedingly safe and conservative observer of political affairs. He writes:

* * * * "But there does seem to be a change in the political condition of parties that is shown more in the temper of parties than in any other way perhaps. The Republicans are irritable—get mad at almost any joke—while the Democrats are in fine feather, and have been especially so for the past few days; and yesterday the thing culminated. It has been a well understood fact that the labor vote was very largely in favor, or, at least, unfavorable to Harrison, and if the Democrats could hold it the State was certain for Cleveland. I have had serious fears that they couldn't do this; but if there were any doubts, yesterday seemed to dispel them. For the past two weeks the Republicans have been making extensive preparations for a great labor demonstration, to take place yesterday. It was expected to have 50,000 or more labor representatives from this and other States. It was a beautiful day—but the crowd did not come, and the procession of all trades numbered 1,575 in line, according to a joint account of a Democrat and Republican. Judge Jordan, who has had the sole charge of the appointment and distribution of speakers, told me a day or two ago that the tide had been running in favor of Democracy for the past week in a most satisfactory way, which, if continued at the same rate until the election, would give them the State by 20,000 or more. But with all this Indiana is among the doubtful States, and it must not be forgotten that a few votes in each township would change the result. And then with a Negro vote of between 17,000 and 20,000, there cannot be absolute certainty."

Fred Douglass' Opinion.

If Fred Douglass is a prophet, or even the great grand-son of a prophet, the days of the g. o. p. are numbered. The New York World reported the eloquent Negro orator the other day in this fashion:

While waiting at the Grand Central depot to take the 9:50 A. M. train for Buffalo, Tuesday, Frederick Douglass, the colored leader, made some very significent admissions concerning the state of affairs in Indiana. He was conversing with Charles T. Davis, and said:

"I have recently returned from a thorough canvass of the Hoosier State, and I am satisfied that it will be impossible to carry the State for Harrison in the coming election. Mr. Harrison's position on the labor question while in the Senate and his utterance that a dollar a day was enough for any laboring man has antagonized all organized labor in that State, and in addition to that antagonism of the labor interests the Democrats are thoroughly organized and in earnest. We found that all our efforts on the tariff question have been neutralized, and have been of little or no avail.

"In regard to the State of New York," Mr. Douglass continued, "we have made strenuous efforts in the western part of the State and we are talking of coming to the Harlem with 70,000 for Harrison, but in my opinion we shall not reach the Harlem with 45,000, and I see little or no hope for carrying the State of New York. In fact, I individually have abandoned all hope of carrying the State."

Mr. Douglass said that he would not weep if Harrison were defeated, nor would he rejoice if the Democrats were successful. He thought the country would be safe in any event. This conversation was conducted in the presence of James B. Recks, of Illinois, a Supervisor of the Pension Bureau at Washington.

Adam Forepaugh's Bets.

Adam Forepaugh arrived home in Philadelphia in his private car at 6 o'clock this morning. The circus closed its season of six months at Altoona on Saturday night. It was one of the most successful seasons the show has ever known. During the six months that Adam Forepaugh has been away from home he has traveled all over the country, and from his observations of the political situation he has bet so far $18,000 that Cleveland will be re-elected, and he wants to bet some more. He is willing to risk $25,000 in the aggregate on the result of the Presidential campaign. Mr. Forepaugh sat in his luxuriously-appointed parlor to-night and talked about his bets. He said:

"I have wagered over $18,000 on Cleveland. The last bet of $1,000 was made on Saturday. I have been traveling about all over the country for the past six months, and I have had my eyes and ears open, and I have seen and heard enough to convince me that Mr. Cleveland will have a walk-over. I think I have had a better opportunity to study the political situation all over the country than people who are settled in one place. I wouldn't risk $18,000 on Cleveland if I hadn't pretty good reasons for believing that I was going to win. Cleveland will carry Indiana and he'll sweep New York State."

As the prospects for defeating Mr. Cleveland grow small it is noticeable that the New York Tribune and other Blaine organs begin to withdraw their champion and push poor Mr. Harrison to the foreground. If there should be a Republican triumph it would be a Blaine victory; but a Republican reverse would be a Harrison defeat.—[Philadelphia Record, (Dem.)

Harrison on the Irish.

John A. Wilson, being first duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a dealer in nursery stock in Bloomington, McLean county, Ill.; that he is of Irish descent, and also an ex-Federal soldier in the Mexican war; that a few days before the Presidential election in the year 1876 he attended a Republican meeting, held one afternoon in the Durley Theatre of Bloomington, Ill., and that Ben Harrison, the present Republican Presidential candidate, addressed that meeting; that Ben Harrison, during the course of his address, spoke highly of many nationalities, except the Irish people; that at this point someone interrupted Harrison and asked about the Irish and the services of Meagher, Sheridan, Shields, Mulligan, and the others; that Harrison said in answer to this question that the Irish were only fit to shovel dirt and fill the penitentiaries; affiant further says he cannot now remember all the abusive language Ben Harrison then used about the Irish, but affiant is sure of what he does claim to remember. Affiant further says that the man who raised the question was put out of the hall.

Cleveland on the Irish.

It needed not the statute, which is now the law of the land declaring that "all naturalized citizens while in foreign lands are entitled to and shall receive from this government the same protection of persons and property which is accorded to native-born citizens," to voice the policy of our nation.

In all lands where the semblance of liberty is preserved, the right of a person arrested to a speedy accusation and trial is, or ought to be, a fundamental law, as it is a rule of civilization.

At any rate, we hold it to be so, and this is one of the rights which we undertake to guarantee to any native-born or naturalized citizen of ours, whether he be imprisoned by order of the Czar of Russia or under the pretext of a law administered for the benefit of the landed aristocracy of England.—[From his speech at St. James Hall, Buffalo, April 9, 1882, demanding the liberation of American citizens imprisoned abroad.

Cure For Piles.

Itching piles are known by moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching after getting warm. This form as well as blind, bleeding and protruding piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching and effecting a permanent cure. 50 cents. Sold by C. H. Hance, 79 North Spring street.

Headquarters Republican County Central Committee.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., October 30, 1888.

To the Republican Voters of Los Angeles County:

Information has come to this Committee of the usual plots and counter-plots to be sprung by the Democratic managers within the next few days.

Republicans of this county have come to expect the flooding of slanderous circulars and the springing of the usual lies just a day or so before election, and too late for contradiction. In addition to this, it is a part of the new scheme, born of the present desperation of the Democratic party in this county, to circulate on election day by means of the telegraph and telephone, to Republican workers in various parts of the county, reports to the effect that certain Republican candidates are trading off others.

For instance, along during the middle of the day of election, a telephone message will be sent from Pasadena to Los Angeles, and some of the strong Spanish precincts, to the effect that Pasadena Republicans are trading off Aguirre for Banbury. Then will come a telegram from San Pedro to Pasadena, saying that Aguirre's friends are slaughtering Colonel Banbury.

By this means, they hope to cause Mr. Aguirre to believe that he is being knifed by Colonel Banbury's friends, and thus induce Mr. Aguirre's friends to turn against Banbury, out of revenge, and scratch his name off the ticket.

We have positive information that this plan will be carried out all over the county between various precincts, and affecting all the candidates more or less.

We take this means of warning the Republican vorers of the county against this Democratic trick. There will be no truth in any such reports. It is a Democratic lie from beginning to end.

Beware of all such tricks!

Republicans, be on your guard!

The Democrats are desperate, and by combining all their efforts on Hewitt and Rowan, and by resorting to such cheap games, they admit their defeat.

Do not let yourselves be deceived nor tricked into deserting any candidate by reason of anything that may be published and circulated during these last few days slandering any Republican candidate. It is an old Democratic trick, and one of the meanest tricks that even a Democratic politician can be guilty of. We have no reason to expect that all of our candidates will escape these villainous attacks. They have not dared to make them heretofore. They dare not make them now. Their only hope is to spring something so late in the day that there will be no chance to make a defense. Look out for them! And look out for the men who adopt such methods!

Republicans, stand by your colors! Vote the straight Republican ticket and every Republican candidate in Los Angeles county is elected by at least one thousand majority!

Yours truly,
W. N. MONROE, Chairman.

A Return to Duty.

This is always desirable, and the speedier it takes place the better. Doubly welcome is it to those usually industrious little organs, the kidneys, which, when they go on a strike—so to speak—and drop work, seriously imperil health in more than one way. First and foremost, their inaction begets their disease, which is hydra-headed, including such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Next, when inactive they fail to assist in removing from the blood impurities that beget rheumatism, gout and dropsy. Third, their inaction weakens the bladder. All this is preventable and remediable by the pleasant promoter of organic action, Hosteiter's Stomach Bitters, at once a tonic and a regulator. This gently but effectually impels the kidneys to return to duty, and strengthens them and the bladder. Upon the bowels, stomach and liver it likewise exerts a regulating and invigorating influence, and it strengthens the system, and averts and remedies malaria and rheumatism.

Benton's Hair Grower.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF or ITCHING of the scalp, should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT. of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and though the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have procured a good growth of hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years. We have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow hair in every case, no matter how long bald.
Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.
It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff and itching of the scalp.
The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

If your druggists have not got it, we will send it prepaid on receipt of price, $1.00.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by R. W. Ellis & Co. Druggists, 27 S. Spring St., Los Angeles.

The prosecuting witnesses, all of them Chinamen, not appearing, he was dismissed, and an attachment was issued for their arrest that they may show the Court why they have not been guilty of contempt.

A SMALL WRECK.

The Santa Monica Train Turns Off the Track.

The Southern Pacific passenger train to Santa Monica that leaves the San Fernando-street depot at 1 P. M. was wrecked yesterday on Fifth street at the exact spot where a freight train was wrecked on Tuesday last. The train was speeding merrily along, and at the point indicated there is a switch which leaves an ugly lip on the main track. The engine caught in this and was thrown from the track, after which it ran 100 feet or so on the ties and then keeled over a small embankment and fell against a strong picket fence. The pilot of the locomotive was broken and the front staved in and in addition to this the two front trucks of the baggage-car were also off the metals. A good deal of excitement prevailed for a few minutes among the passengers, for there were fifty or sixty on the cars, but they speedily quieted down when they found that they were safe. The only person hurt was Fireman Cassin, who, in jumping from the cab, sprained his ankle and received injuries that will confine him to his home for a few days. Directly the news reached the San Fernando offices one of the new powerful switch engines were dispatched to the scene and pulled the train back to the depot the baggage-car being lifted on the rails with jack-screws. The track at the scene of the wreck was considerably torn up, so it was decided to abandon the 1 o'clock train altogether, and the passengers were held over until 5 P. M. By that time a subsidiary line had been built around the wreck, and as soon as the train had passed the wrecking outfit appeared on the scene, and proceeded to work. A large number of persons assembled and watched the operations, which were continued until late in the night, the company being determined to have the track in shape again by the morning. The officials announce that the trains to-day will run as usual.

THE PARTY'S COURSE.

Republican Mismanagement Severely Scored.

EDITORS HERALD—The course the Republican party has pursued and is pursuing in regard to the West-Murchison affair causes one to doubt the sanity of some of their leaders. They seem to be aware of the fact that their party is in the last throes of dissolution, and it has rendered them frantic. The fact that other letters of a similar character were written from the same place about the same time to other persons gives the whole thing a very suspicious look, to say the least of it; and now when we find that a concerted howl goes up from the Republican press and stump orators all over the country, there can no longer be the slightest doubt that the whole scheme was concocted at Republican headquarters. They evidently hope by the aid of some such trick as this on the eve of election, and the liberal use of money, to get enough votes to turn the tide which is now running steadily against them. But there is one feature about this whole business which strikes an ordinary observer with astonishment, and that is the bold and barefaced insult they offer to the Irish people. The average Republican naturally hates an Irishman, he never has any use for him except about election time when he wants his vote; and to get that he never appeals to his reason or judgment, but always to his prejudices. He treats him just as though he thought he was a natural born fool—a sort of political jumping-jack, that by pulling a certain string can be set to jumping and jabbering like a baboon in a raree show. They don't expect to get his vote by satisfying the reason and judgment, nor do they ever think of doing anything that is calculated to win his gratitude or regard. It is either an appeal to his passions and prejudices or no appeal at all. Their idea seems to be that if they can only get an Englishman to speak of Mr. Cleveland with the least degree of respect, every Irishman will immediately rush off and vote the Republican ticket; that such is their natural hatred to anything English, all you have got to do to have an Irishman vote against Cleveland is to satisfy him that Cleveland eats the same kind of food an Englishman does, and that will settle it. The use they are trying to make of this West-Murchison correspondence shows that is just the kind of estimate they have of the average Irish voter. To give our Irish friends some idea of what they think of him, I quote the following from a late article in the San Francisco Chronicle, the leading organ of the g. o. p. on this coast:

"A very angry anonymous scribbler who signs himself 'A Briton' says that the Chronicle is angling after the ignorant 'Irish vote.' Our British correspondent is in error. The Chronicle has not the slightest hope of winning the ignorant 'Irish voters' over to the cause of protection. It makes no appeals to that class. It knows that the 'ignorant Irish' will vote for Cleveland."

Is it this ignorant "Irish vote" that the Republicans are now after? Was that the object in concocting this West-Murchison correspondence? That is the class that the Chronicle says is going to vote for Cleveland. So if they are going after Irish votes it must be the ignorant Irish votes. They certainly would not go after those they have already got. We are bound to conclude, therefore, that this West-Murchison fraud has been concocted for the purpose of corralling the "ignorant Irish vote," as the Chronicle calls it. If they are not after this vote, why all this clap-trap and humbug. What do our Irish friends think of this compliment to their intelligence? Is it not about time that Irishmen should teach these fellows a lesson? There was never a better time to do it than right now. A few years ago they nominated a county ticket in San Francisco, and some of their leaders boasted that there wasn't a damned Irishman or Dutchman on it. If this election goes for Cleveland and Thurman, the Republican leaders will swear in their wrath as they have done heretofore, that it was all on account of the damned "ignorant Irish" and "Dutch." ANTI-HUMBUG.

Some Whoppers Crucified.

EDITORS HERALD—Although life is too short to call attention to all the falsehoods, forgeries and other crimes perpetrated by the managers of the Republican campaign, yet I should like to notice a few of the latest. A poster issued by the Republican committee and posted all over the city makes this statement:

The vote on the passage of the Scott Exclusion bill in the Senate was as follows: For the passage of the bill, Republicans 14; Democrats, against the bill, 15. Where would the Scott bill be but for Republican votes?

Now, there is not a man or boy of ordinary intelligence in the State but knows that statement to be a lie made of whole cloth. The committee that published it knew it to be a lie. But that made no difference, as it was intended only as an appeal to ignorance. I know that every voter that reads has noticed the falsehood, but a contrast with the fact will do no harm. The vote on the passage of the Scott Exclusion act in the Senate, as given on page 9215 of the Congressional Record, stood: For the passage of the bill 37, against the passage of the bill 3. Of the votes against the passage of the bill two, Hoar and Wilson, are Republicans, and one, Brown, is a Democrat. Again, in the Times of Thursday, is another forgery similar to the "Murchison." A letter from one Miller, (why wasn't it Mulligan?) purporting to be addressed to Denis Kearney at San Francisco and forwarded to this city, is according to the Times, stolen by a person on the Los Angeles police force and turned over to the Times. Now I would not for a moment doubt the confession of that sheet as to its being a willing receiver of stolen property (for the good of the g. o. p.); but unfortunately for its desire to add to its reputation in that line the facts in this case are against it. When Denis Kearney was here some time ago he expected a package of campaign cartoons by mail, and as they had not arrived he gave an order to a gentleman in this city on the Postmaster for any mail that might arrive for him. In order to receive the package it was necessary to present the order at the general delivery to receive the card of notification that the package had arrived. The bearer of the order has applied to the general delivery frequently ever since that time, but no letter has ever come for Denis Kearney. No Denis Kearney is a patrolman on the police force, as stated by the Times, nor has any such person been connected with the force within the memory of any one now on the force. So we can add the Times forgery to the other attempts in that line that have disgraced the management of the party of great moral ideas during the present campaign. How inspiring it must be to march beneath the banners of a party whose chosen weapons are fraud, perjury and falsehood, especially when the person so marching is clothed in a Chinese made uniform. DEMOCRAT.

Dangerous Displays.

The rockets used in the Republican parade last night nearly caused a number of catastrophes. On the corner of Fourth and Fort streets one fell from its holder just as it was discharged, and scudded along the pavement at terrific speed, nearly striking two ladies who were too frightened to jump out of the way. Another one found its way into "The Resort," on First street, and set fire to that establishment, the conflagration being soon quenched, however, by the judicious application of a few buckets of water. Several runaways nearly took place, and the awnings of a number of stores on the main thoroughfares were found to be smouldering after the parade passed by, caused of course from the pyrotechnics that spluttered all around. There is nothing serious, however, to chronicle.

How the County Grows.

The Anaheim Gazette has made a table of the registered voters in the Fifth Supervisoral District, comparing the present with two years ago. This is the way it shows the growth of that end of the county:

	Present vote.	Vote in 1884.	Increase
Santa Ana	1200	449	751
Anaheim	430	315	115
Orange	411	292	119
Tustin	200	96	104
Westminster	128	110	18
Garden Grove	115	74	41
Norwalk	235	121	114
Artesia	143	113	30
San Juan Capistrano	121	98	23
El Modeno	114		114
Yorba	55	45
Fountain Valley	35	46	11
McPherson	39		39
Olive	19		19
Laguna	13		13
Fairview	13		13
Totals	2,847	1,447	1,403

The total increase is nearly one hundred per cent.

THE Clerk's office is in receipt of great registers of the following counties. The vote of 1886 is compared with the registration of 1888 to this effect:

	Vote 1886.	Registration 1888.
Mendocino	2,994	4,664
Contra Costa	2,615	3,235
Tuolumne	1,998	2,246
Sonoma	5,976	7,693

A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition.

A little over six weeks ago Mrs. Fowler of 327 Ellis street, San Francisco, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, about which she had heard so much recently, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headache. She was assured that in most cases it would relieve both. She was, however, so incredulous that finally the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. A proposition so startlingly practical has seldom, if ever before, been made. The following just received is the convincing conclusion, and tells its own story:

San Francisco, February 8, 1888.

DEAR SIR: I write to admit that, notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions, to no purpose, that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since I commenced taking it. I believe I am permanently cured, but will, out of an abundance of caution, continue to take it regularly for a while yet. You have my permission to make this public, for it is my belief that a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler.
327 Ellis street.

Communicated.

EDITORS HERALD — Notwithstanding my plain and explicit declaration upon the subject, I understand that persons, whose private interests lead them to oppose my election, are daily asserting that I do not intend to deposit the county funds, in the event of my election, among the various banks mentioned in my former published communication. I respectfully refer your readers to my letter dated September 7th, addressed to Mr. F. H. Barclay, replying to a communication addressed by him to me. In that letter I stated, and I again state, that, if elected, I will keep all moneys belonging to the State or county as required by law; and that, as the county has provided that no vault, or any other safe repository, I will deposit such moneys in the First National Bank, Farmers & Merchants' Bank, Los Angeles County Bank, Southern California National Bank, Childress Safe Deposit Bank, University Bank, Los Angeles National Bank, and such other banking establishments of the county as may be found desirable and secure. I call attention to the spetific character of my pledge, and call attention to the fact that there is no equivocation about it, and no one has ever been able to show that I have ever acted otherwise than in good faith, or have ever been accused of the violation of my pledge. E. E. HEWITT.

Dated November 2, 1888.

A Heavy Assignment.

The entire stock of the firm of S. Kline & Company, on the corner of First and Main streets, valued at $40,000, and consisting of clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, blankets, etc., must be sold at less than cost on Wednesday next. This immense stock of goods must be disposed of regardless of value on account of the assignment of the firm, and no such chance to secure goods at a price less than cost has ever occurred before in this city. The sale will commence at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, November 7th, and will be under the management of Mr. C. Raphael.

Removed.

Mrs. J. Davidson begs leave to announce to her friends and the public generally that she has removed to No. 444 S. Spring street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, where she will be please to show her fine new stock of millinery and fancy goods. The goods are all fresh, of the very latest make, and will be sold at reasonable prices.

Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting for men only at Hazard's Pavilion, Sunday, 7:30 P. M., will be addressed by Rev. Drs. Cantine, Hutchins and others, on the moral condition of the city; and a similar meeting for women only, at Fort-street M. E. Church will be addressed by women. Everybody invited to be present.

Ghirardelli's

Ground Chocolate

Made Instantly

HAVE YOU A COLD IN THE HEAD which does not get better? Have you an excessive secretion of mucus matter in the nasal passages? Are you troubled by hawking, spitting, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, ringing or roaring in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness or dizziness of the head, dryness or heat of the nose? Have you lost all sense of smell? your breath foul? If so, you have the Catarrh. Some have all these symptoms, others only a part.

California Cat-R-Cure

Restores the sense of taste and smell, removes bad taste and unpleasant breath, resulting from catarrh. Easy and pleasant to use. Follow directions and a cure is warranted by all druggists.

RECOMMENDED.

CAPTAIN CHARLES L. DIMON, of New York City, formerly special agent of the Phœnix and Home Insurance Company at San Francisco, Cal., says: "I had been troubled with Chronic Catarrh for twenty years. A friend in Woodland, Cal., recommended your California CAT-R-CURE. I procured a jar, having but little faith in its curative properties; but I must say, after using three jars, I am cured of that disgusting disease. Inclosed find $5, for which send me California CAT-R-CURE for some friends, who are sufferers."

For Sale by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 N. Spring St.; F. W. Braun & Co., Wholesale Agents, Los Angeles, Cal.
